CVIJANOVICH (R) AND VISITING AIRMEN.

SUMPTUOUS REUNION FEAST OF ROAST PIG
(Freeman photos by Carey)

Watery Eyes, Smiling Faces at Reunion

By TIM SCHUSTER

WAPPINGERS FALLS

Most of the eyes were watering, but the faces smiling, on the several dozen faces of friends of Momchilo Cvijanovich Saturday afternoon — it was a reunion without parallel for many of the persons there in his back yard.

Some 30 years ago, on the way back from a bombing mission to Vienna, a United States aircraft was riddled with flak and forced to land in the snowy landscape of the Yugoslavian mountains.

Momchilo's father, Dragutin, now 80 years old, as a member of the resistance, sheltered a dozen men in his farmer's quarters for four months from January through April, 1944.

Dragutin and his wife met with the former airmen for the first time since the war Saturday afternoon, over a traditional roast pig and lamb dinner with potatoes flowing like water and the conversation among the airmen, most of whom had not seen each other since the war, flowing as freely.

Momchilo, who was eight years old when his family harbored the downed American airmen, wore a perpetual smile all afternoon and periodically discharged rounds of shotgun blanks into the air whenever the occasion presented itself.

The airmen arrived one at a time; Stanley Daxel of New York City, who arranged to have Momchilo brought to the U.S. in 1958; Russell White of Denver and James Gourley of Two Buttes, Colo., both of whom flew in for the occasion; Clyde Miller, of Vestal, N. Y.; and George A. Daniels, former navigator, of Stamford, Conn.

Dragutin and his wife have been visiting with their sons in Dutchess County since January, and plan to return to Yugoslavia in August.

Pinnacle of the afternoon arrived when Dragutin with his wife arrived in the driveway to the sound of shotgun fire, cries of ecstasy, tears, handshakes, reminiscences, and renewal of acquaintances.

Stanley Daxel told of being picked up by the loyalists after the group left the Cvijanovich homestead and marching through the snowy mountains toward the port city of Split, where steamer transportation was arranged back to the States.

With Russell White feigning serious illness, the group split from the Cetnik faction and joined the Partisans for the trip back to the coast. The two political groups were internally struggling with each other, while both opposing the Germans.

Navigator Daniels recalled how several men were hospitalized and almost all lost 30 to 40 pounds during that rough winter when there was little food to go around and the Cvijanovichs shared what they had.

"We sometimes split a roast chicken, or even an egg, 12 ways," he said. He claimed to have brought his old poker score sheet with him since "some of these guys still owe me money."

Momchilo was in his glory. In this country since 1958 with the help of Stanley Daxel, he is now working as a physicist for IBM, and expects to complete his Masters degree in physics at Vassar College this year.

But his face was that of an eight-year-old Saturday afternoon, as the memories were good ones and the celebration was of human compassion and strength 30 years ago that was embodied in the faces of those who had lived through those perilous times.

Nixon Duplicates Egypt Move

Israel Nuclear Provision

JERUSALEM (UPI) — President Nixon promised today to provide Israel nuclear technology for peaceful purposes—an agreement similar to one he signed last week in Egypt.

The nuclear provision was included in a U.S.-Israeli space and other technical aid and new economic assistance to "offset the heavy additional costs inherent in assuring Israel's military capability for the maintenance of peace."

The agreement was signed by Nixon and Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin as Nixon wound up the first visit by an American President to Israel. Nixon's last stop on his Middle East "journey for peace" is Amman, Jordan. The President then flies to the Azores for an overnight rest and a meeting with Portuguese President Antonio de Spínola before returning to Washington Wednesday.

During his visit to Jerusalem, Nixon tried to reassure Israelis of the firmness of continued American friendship and support even while the United States is improving relations with the Arab world. His triumphant reception in three Arab countries plus the agreement to provide nuclear technology to Egypt worried some Israeli leaders.

"Under no circumstances does the fact that the United States is seeking better relations with some of Israel's neighbors mean that the friendship of the United States and the support for Israel is any less," Nixon said in a toast at a state dinner Sunday.

The nuclear provisions, matching those in the agreement announced in Cairo Friday, called for the United States to sell Israel technology, fuel and reactors to meet the country's rapidly increasing electrical needs.

The agreement said—and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger reaffirmed—that the agreement contained safeguards to make sure the nuclear power was used for peaceful purposes and would not be used in making nuclear weapons.

In Amman, Jordan's King Hussein, who has been a frequent visitor to Washington during Nixon's two administrations, arranged a rousing welcome for the President. Hussein has been friendly of exams in Chemistry and Physics, originally scheduled for Wednesday, have been rewritten and rescheduled for Thursday.

Businesses and schools closed and American flags and pictures of Nixon decorated the streets of the Jordanian capital.

Nixon's reception in Israel has been warm although for the first time on his eight-day tour there were signs of dissent. A few Watergate-related signs were spotted on his arrival Sunday—such as "You Can't Run From Justice" and "We are All Jewboys"—the latter a reference to an alleged slur in one of the White House Watergate tapes.

Israeli police broke up a demonstration of about 30 men, women and children who picketed the Jerusalem hotel where the American press corps was staying. The demonstrators, carrying such signs as "Nixon Quiet Diplomacy Never Got One Jew out of Russia," said they represented about 40 Jews held as prisoners in Russia.

As reporters talked to the Jerusalem demonstrators, a police squad rushed up and began tearing the signs out of the demonstrators' hands. When one woman resisted, a policeman hit her. A police spokesman said the group had permit to conduct a public demonstration and moved them

Nixon goes to the Soviet Union June 27 for talks with Russian leaders which Communist Party leader Leonid Brezhnev said Sunday would produce some "good agreements" between him and Nixon.

William D. Ruckelshaus, Archibald Cox came to Kissinger's defense on wiretap charges. Story page 22.

Security was tight during Nixon's 25-hour Israel visit, for fear of some Arab protest. Police leaves were cancelled, army troops were put on alert, roads traveled by the President were roped off and the Secret Service took over the King David Hotel where he was staying.

Before they flew to Amman, Nixon and his wife Pat visited the Yad Vashem memorial to the 6 million Jews who died during World War II and left a wreath on behalf of the American people.

Several times on the way to the memorial, Nixon got out of his limousine to shake hands with people in the crowd. Afterwards he held a final meeting with Rabin and watched a working session of the Knesset, the Israeli parliament.

The new U.S.-Israeli agreement also included provisions covering exchanges of space and scientific technology, increased U.S. private investment in Israel and the end of double taxation on such ventures, assurances of continued supplies of oil and raw materials, desalinization of water, cultural and education exchanges.

It condemned "acts of violence and terror causing the loss of innocent lives," reiterated previous statements supporting U.N. resolutions to reach a permanent peace in the Middle East, and said an Israeli delegation would go to Washington soon to work out details of arms shipments.

But it was the nuclear provision — and the one Nixon reached with Egypt — that most concerned some Israeli leaders.

County School Officials Chart New Regents Course

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON Seven Regents examinations have already been canceled, there are unofficial indications that others may follow suit, and local school districts are attempting to devise a system for determining final grades that is fair and equitable to all the students involved.

But, as Kingston school district superintendent Louis A. Salzmann said today, "some student is bound to get hurt by all this."

That is the aftermath of New York State's first Regents scandal in the exam's 96-year history. The paper was uncovered late last week when it was learned that four young people stole the answers to at least seven Regents exams—and possibly more—from the private Solomon Schechter School in Brooklyn.

Regents exams for Math 9, Math 10 (Geometry), Math 11, Comprehensive English and Biology have been canceled, and will not be rescheduled. Regents exams in Chemistry and Physics, originally scheduled for Wednesday, have been rewritten and rescheduled for Thursday.

Locally, several school districts have prepared alternative plans that they hope will dispel some of the confusion and assure that as few students as possible suffer.

In most cases, students with passing grades in the seven affected courses will receive Regents credit, even though the exam has been canceled. If a student has a failing grade, however, he will be allowed to take a new Regents exam in August; in the meantime, he will receive an incomplete for the course.

Lee said that "review classes" will be held during the summer so students can re-familiarize themselves with the subject after the long delay.

The Regents scandal may prove to be a blessing in disguise for students in the New Paltz Central School District. A spokesman there said today that every student — whether he was passing or failing the course before the canceled exam — will receive Regents credit and will automatically pass the course. No senior will be denied graduation because of "The Regents system has outlived its usefulness," said Superintendent Dr. Frank M. Marlow. "It may take a new Regents exam in August, another decade, but I think the Likewise, at Ontario, no se-Regents is on its way out."

WRINGING WET—Dan Stott, president of the Ulster Cycling Club mops his brow after completing 100 mile patch ride along the Hudson River Sunday. The elements contributed to the rigors of the trip which started and ended at Dietz Stadium. Seven riders made the century ride north to Catskill, across the Rip Van Winkle Bridge to Poughkeepsie and back to Kingston in nine and a half hours. Four starters dropped out along the way, dampened no doubt by the rainy day. (Freeman photo by Carey)

Winds Hit Upstate

By The Associated Press Residents of three counties in upstate New York worked today to clean up the mess left by powerful winds, thunderstorms and unconfirmed tornadoes.

The Sunday afternoon winds hit Albany, Saratoga and Greene counties, leaving three persons slightly injured, several homes damaged and at least one business office destroyed.

Ulster County was relatively unscathed by the violent weather. Up to two inches of rain fell in some sections in the 24-hour period. In Kingston, the city engineer's office reports 1.20 inches of rain which accounted for some minor flooding of catch basins and the like. Central Hudson reported no serious problems from the storm.)

The National Weather Service said it was investigating "several possible tornadoes," but neither the weather service nor police agencies could confirm the tornado sightings.

The worst damage appeared to have been in the Burnt Hills area in southern Saratoga County where sheriff's deputies said winds leveled a showroom of the Morris Ford auto agency and damaged three houses.

More than 60 cars at the auto agency also were damaged and the dealership's owner, Terry Morris, put total damage at $150,000, deputies said. A boat shop near the auto agency also suffered damage.

Morris referred ironically to the damage as a "Father's Day present," saying his first words when he surveyed the sight were, "My God, what happened."

The winds took a garage at one of the houses "and dumped it in the backyard," damaged a swimming pool and tool shed at another house, and a roof and sunporch at a third home, deputies said.

One man in the Burnt Hills area reported "the rain stopped, the sky got really black and there was a lot of debris in the air all of a sudden," a deputy said.

In Slingerlands in Albany County, three persons attending a Father's Day gathering were injured by broken glass. Marie Grassucci, her husband, Carl, and their 6-year-old grandson, Jeffrey Genovesi, were treated at an Albany hospital, a family spokesman said.

Council Meets Wednesday

Esopus Flood Control on Agenda

The Common Council, meeting where they heard a briefing last Thursday night on cost estimates on the proposed Esopus Flood Control Project, will meet Wednesday night to give its final approval to what is expected to be a $1.3 million package.

The aldermen were recessed from their regular June 4 dollars.

'Feraca' Bill Signed by Wilson

ALBANY Governor Malcolm Wilson has signed a bill which would allow policemen or firemen in cities of less than 125,000 population to serve on school boards in such communities.

The signing of the bill over which there was previously some confusion was confirmed today by the governor's office, according to Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, who had been a sponsor of the bill in the Assembly.

Governor Wilson signs more state bills. Story on page 22.

The bill would apparently have an effect on the case of Kingston Detective Joseph Feraca, who has been waging a court battle with the State Education Department for the past several months over whether he could retain his seat on the Kingston Consolidated Schools Board of Education while retaining his position with the Kingston Police Department.

Under a 1958 State Education Law a person could not hold a "city office" and be a member of the board of education in the same community at one time. The bill signed by Governor amends that law to exclude policemen or firemen from the restriction.

Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-25th District) was one of the sponsors of legislation that doubled the federal participation although Fish had asked originally for a ceiling of $5 million. President Nixon signed the legislation into law on March 7.

Mayor Koenig's request for immediate action on the part of the aldermen-based apparently on the fact that the federal fiscal year runs out June 30 — was referred to the Laws and Rules Committee and the Finance, Ways and Means Committee of the Council.

Those committees met Thursday night at city hall with Koenig, the rest of the Council, James G. Connors, urban renewal director and Stanley Messel, an engineer with the Army Corps of Engineers.

Messel explained that the Corps hoped to go to bid on the project within the next few months and that the Corps would let contracts and supervise construction. Messel made it clear, however that if the cost exceeded $2 million, that the city and/or state would be responsible for the additional expenditures.

Indications are, that as designed, the project will not exceed $1.3 million in which case there would be no cost to the city.

Another question answered at that Thursday night meeting was whether any additional land would have to be acquired since the agency sold creek frontage property for the construction of Dutch Village apartments.

The gathering was assured by Connors that no additional land was needed since the urban renewal agency had made allowances for the flood control project when it sold the land for Dutch Village.

The dikes, or levees, will extend some 1,640 feet from Washington Avenue (Route 28) to Col. Chandler Drive (Route 587). The earthen levees will have a walkway on top with grass slopes. The city will be responsible for maintenance.

The flood control projects designed to protect low lying areas along the Esopus Creek, primarily Kingston Plaza, one of the city's main mercantile centers.

There has been virtually no opposition to the project within the city but along the lower Esopus some residents, Legislator Richard Nace among them, contend the dike will be detrimental to their area. Nace suggests that a flood control project at Kingston will create uncontrollable flood conditions below.

Corps of Engineer spokesmen, questioned on that point contend an impact study will be undertaken before any final commitment to construction is made.

Wednesday night's meeting is expected to be brief although the aldermen are not restricted in the legislation they may consider.

There is a possibility some $40,000 in parking meters will be approved. However, the Finance Committee and the Traffic Committee are responsible for that legislation and there had been no definite word on whether it will come out Wednesday night or be delayed for further study until the July 2 meeting of the Council.

The aldermen meet at 7 p.m. at city hall.

Brother, Sister Slain By Sister's Ex-Husband

SPRING VALLEY, N.Y. (UPI) — A 26-year-old woman and her brother were shot to death early today by the woman's ex-husband, who walked up to the two in a bar and began firing "without saying a word," local authorities reported.

A spokesman for the Spring Valley police department said an angry group of the victims' friends gathered outside police headquarters after the shooting, but they were persuaded to disperse.

The spokesman said Joyce Blacknell and her brother, Nathaniel Harvey, 35, both of this Rockland County village, were sitting in the Mambo Palace when the woman's former husband, Fred Blacknell, 35, walked up to them and fired two shots with a .32 caliber pistol.

The spokesman said Blacknell, apparently not intoxicated, "just walked up to the table where the victims were sitting and began firing without saying a word."

Both Mrs. Blacknell and her brother were hit in the chest. They were rushed to Ramapo General Hospital in nearby Monsey, where they were pronounced dead on arrival.

Blacknell, who has no permanent address, was arrested for murder and placed in the jail at police headquarters.

A few minutes later, police said, an angry group of about two dozen friends of the murdered brother and sister gathered outside the building, and, at one point, several persons actually entered the station.

Police eventually persuaded the group to leave peacefully, however.

A crowd also gathered outside Ramapo General Hospital, the spokesman said, but also dispersed without incident.

Blacknell was held without bail pending a preliminary hearing.

Committee's Impeachment Inquiry Nearly Completed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is nearing the end of its impeachment inquiry, with only about five of the original 55 allegations against President Nixon still under active examination.

The Watergate cover-up, Nixon's taxes and charges that the administration used the Internal Revenue Service for political purposes are the major areas still under review. The cover-up inquiry stems from the break-in two years ago to day of Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate building complex.

Use of wiretaps in domestic surveillance remains a concern for a sizeable number of committee members, and the search for a link between Nixon's decision to raise milk prices and campaign contributions by the dairy industry last March were dropped with out any evidence even being presented, and many others were given only a passing glance.

Meanwhile, former Deputy Atty. Gen. William D. Ruckelshaus said Sunday there are other surprises ahead in the Watergate scandal. Ruckelshaus, who was fired from the Justice Department Oct. 20 after refusing to fire Archibald Cox as special prosecutor, was interviewed on CBS' "Face the Nation" program.

He did not reveal what future Watergate developments could be expected, but said: "There is information that I'm aware of that has not yet become public" or perhaps been brought before the impeachment inquiry.

Dozens of allegations announced as under investigation

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., has scheduled closed hearings for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and said he will meet at night, if necessary, to conclude them before the impeachment inquiry.

Dozens of allegations announced as under investigation

elshaus said he believes Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger should be cleared in the wiretapping controversy. He said his familiarity with the case tended to confirm Kissinger's explanation of his role in the wiretapping.

The Supreme Court agreed Saturday to consider arguments by White House lawyers that a grand jury exceeded its authority when it named the President as an unindicted co-conspirator in the cover-up.

However, the high court refused a motion by both special prosecutor Leon Jaworski and presidential attorney James D. St. Clair to make public the entire portion of the grand jury proceedings which were attached to its listing of Nixon and others as among those involved.

The court did make public one passage, which read: "in which the grand jury on Feb. 25, 1974, by a vote of 19-0, ... determined that there is probable cause that Richard M. Nixon (among others) was a member of the conspiracy to defraud the United States and to obstruct justice ... charged in its indictment, and ... the grand jury authorized the special prosecutor to identify Richard M. Nixon (among others) as an unindicted co-conspirator in connection with subsequent legal proceedings in this case."

The Supreme Court ruled that "other than this disclosure, the IRS and wiretapping phases of the inquiry is expected to be included in a proposed broad charge involving abuse of the powers of office."

The possible impeachable offenses that could result from the tax and dairy matters are fraud and bribery.

Nixon's refusal to comply with committee subpoenas could furnish grounds for an additional article of impeachment and also will be taken into consideration by the members when they vote on other articles.

The end of the evidentiary phase of the investigation will clear the way for committee decisions on three important questions: Calling of witnesses, presentation of Nixon's defense and public release of evidence.

It probably will take a number of meetings during the week starting June 24 to settle the controversial questions.

Rodino, who had set mid-July as the deadline for the committee to recommend to the House whether Nixon should be impeached, said Friday it is more likely to be a week later.

He said it still was possible, however, that the House will be able to start debate on impeachment during the first week in August.

Speaker Carl Albert is considering having sound equipment and headsets installed in the House chamber so all 435 members can listen to tapes during the debate.

In another weekend development, a source told The Associated Press that former presidential domestic advisor John D. Ehrlichman has decided not to press a subpoena seeking Nixon's appearance at his upcoming trial, but plans to ask Nixon to answer written questions as the deadline for the committee.

Second Anniversary of Watergate Break-in WASHINGTON (AP) — Police Sgt. Paul Leeper drew his gun and jumped onto a desk in Democratic National Committee headquarters.

"I looked over this glass partition. There were five men standing in front of a desk with their hands either raised above their heads or at least shoulder high wearing blue surgical gloves ...

"We ordered them out from behind the desk and lined them up along the wall, facing the wall, hands on the wall, feet spread apart and at that time I informed them who we were, they were under arrest for burglary and advised them of their rights ...

It was a heady time for Richard Nixon, who was relaxing that weekend in Key Biscayne, Fla. Earlier that year he had made his historic trip to China and he had every reason to be confident that the following November he would win a second four years in the presidency.

Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell had taken command of the President's re-election campaign and was in Los Angeles. The campaign treasury was overflowing.

The Democrats seemed certain to nominate Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, whom both Nixon and Mitchell were convinced would be their easiest opponent. That is, unless McGovern proved a stalking horse for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the Democrat they feared the most.

Not even the break-in at Democratic party headquarters ruffled the outward calm of the Nixon campaign. "A third-rate burglary" not worth commenting on, said presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

But as time passed that calm facade would crack, widen and reveal far more of the secrets of the Nixon administration than the burglars had succeeded in disclosing about the Democrats.

June 17, 1972, would become the most easily remembered date of Richard Nixon's presidency — and by the first anniversary of the break-in, no one was calling it a third-rate burglary.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., was starting on daytime television as chairman of the Senate Watergate committee hearings. Archibald Cox, the crewcut Yankee law professor with a fondness for bow ties, was the special Watergate prosecutor. And most of the men who had held the real power during the first Nixon administration had resigned, such as H. R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst had resigned. But one, former White House counsel John W. Dean III, had been fired.

Dean had a story to tell. Eight days after that first anniversary, he settled into the Watergate committee spotlight and in flat, unemotional tones related his belief that one of those who had conspired to cover up that involvement of Nixon campaign officials in the Watergate break-in was the President himself.

But how to prove whether Dean's story was true or false? The President declined invitations from Ervin and Cox to tell his side of the story. Testimony from Nixon loyalists conflicted with Dean's.

And then Alexander P. Butterfield told the Watergate committee of the existence of the White House taping system. Thus began the battle of subpoenas. It quickly became clear that Cox, a former solicitor general and legal scholar, represented the chief threat to the President's determination to guard the confidentiality of his discussions with aides.

Finally, on Oct. 20, 1973, after Cox had obtained two court rulings upholding his right to subpoena presidential tapes, Nixon fired the special prosecutor.

Within days, White House aides conceded they had misjudged the possible public reaction. Thousands of telegrams had poured into Washington demanding Nixon's impeachment.

Three days after the firing, Nixon agreed to turn over the subpoenaed tapes.

But the impeachment process had begun. It was spurred on by the disclosure that two of the subpoenaed conversations did not exist and that a third was marred by an 18½-minute erasure that had wiped out the only discussion of Watergate.

A new special prosecutor, Leon Jaworski, took over. In March 1974, grand juries returned the major Watergate indictments. Facing criminal charges were those familiar names: Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Mitchell and former White House special counsel Charles W. Colson. With all his one-time closest advisers under indictment, the President suddenly appeared vulnerable.

But had the President broken guilt or innocence that would be decided in the courts.

But there was one certainty. John Dean was a poor prophet when he told the President Feb. 28, 1973, that the Watergate break-in would end up "in the funniest pages of the history books."

On the second anniversary, those were unanswered questions. And because they were unanswered, they overshadowed all the other questions of books."

On the second anniversary, those were unanswered questions. And because they were unanswered, they overshadowed all the other questions of books."

GOP Financing Mail Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Republican Chairman George Bush said he was disturbed by portions of President Nixon's taped Watergate conversations, the GOP National Committee paid more than $10,000 to finance a massive White House mail campaign circulating a favorable interpretation of the transcripts.

Party headquarters has regularly processed and paid for White House mailings to interest groups and communications media. The transcript material was by far the most massive this year.

William J. Baroody Jr., special consultant to the President who deals with outside organizations, directed that a 15-page packet be sent to more than 28,000 persons from more than 40 mailing lists maintained by the GOP.

They ranged from leaders of veterans organizations to Chamber of Commerce officials; from 1972 Nixon campaign workers to members of the Teamsters union executive board.

The mailing included the text of Nixon's April 29 address in which he said he would give edited transcripts, but not original tapes, to the House impeachment inquiry.

A similar mailing ordered by Ken W. Clawson, White House communications director, went to 3,269 news organizations and publications.

Both mailings included brief transcript excerpts supporting Nixon's contention that he knew nothing of the Watergate cover-up until March 21, 1973.

Bush had said after reading the transcripts that their tone was disturbing and that he was "shook up" about some portions, although he said other segments tended to support Nixon.

A party official said there was no special discussion about the massive mailings and that they were sent out routinely, as were 37 other mailings for the White House this year.

Though most of the mailings Clawson and Baroody ordered this year have dealt with Nixon programs in such areas as energy, some concerned Watergate and related affairs.

One dealt with the ITT and milk investigations, another a speech by Vice President Gerald R. Ford strongly supporting being sent at government expense.

Nixon. Three included articles from publications defending Nixon, two contained texts of White House briefings related to Watergate and another distributed a favorable public opinion poll.

Early in the first Nixon administration it was decided that the party would pay for such mailings to avoid any criticism that political material was being sent at government expense.

The party operates its own print shop, so precise costs for the mailings are not calculated. Postage alone for the transcript material mailings, however, would have been more than $10,000. Paper and envelope costs as estimated by a GOP staff worker would have exceeded $1,500.

The GOP keeps name and address mailing lists in such categories as editors of daily papers, medical directors of insurance companies, religious leaders, heads of leading transportation companies, chairmen of university departments of sociology and black contacts.

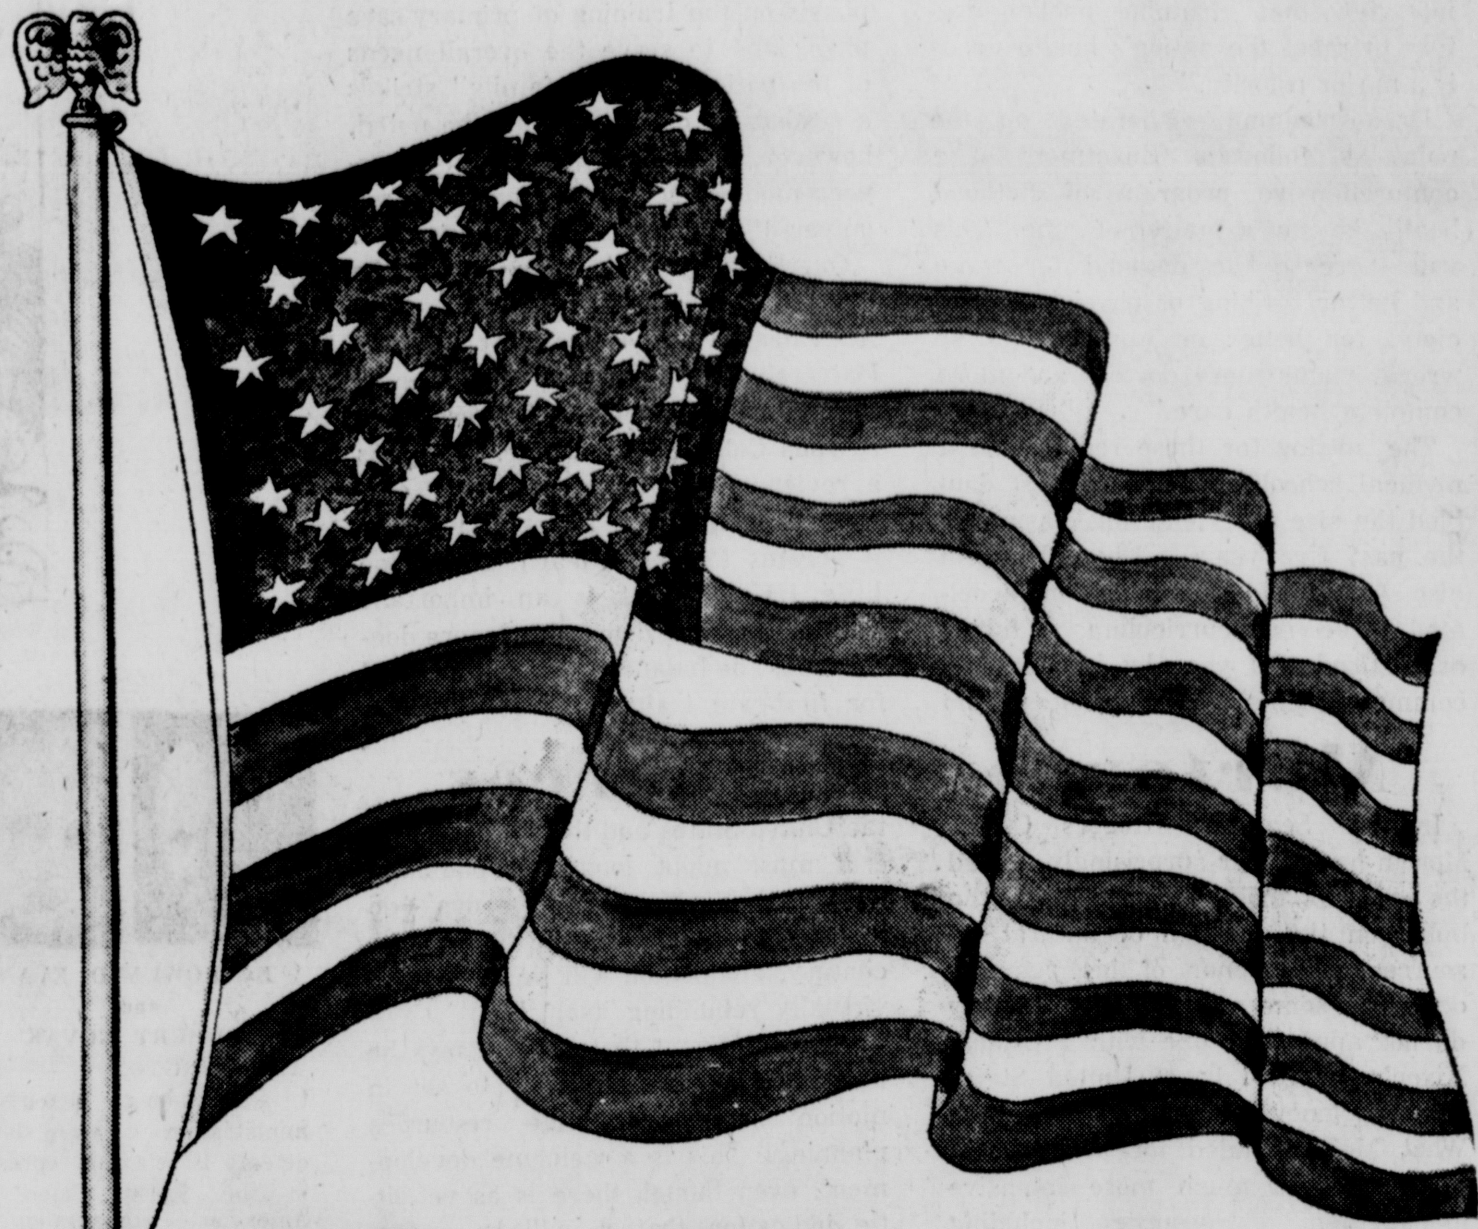

One list of 292 persons could be considered a status symbol. It is entitled: Business-Community leaders—"Movers and Shakers."

Reburying the Famed Mountain Man

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — With actor Robert Redford as the chief, palbearers and TV cameras deployed to record the tender scene, the last remains of legendary mountain man and Indian fighter Jeremiah Johnson were laid to rest the other day at Old Trail Town, Wyo.

Warner Bros., which is now massively promoting the Redford movie about Jeremiah Johnson, happily provided the TV networks with film clips. Thus, a nationwide television audience was treated to a Redford portrayal of the old Indian killer, as his moldy bones were lowered into their new grave.

There was one problem, which was never mentioned in all the publicity. The removal of Jeremiah Johnson's bones from a less glamorous veteran's grave, apparently was quite illegal.

The idea of relocating his mortal remains originated with some students at the Parkview Junior High School in Lancaster, Calif., which is 50 miles by freeway from the Warner Bros. lot.

They discovered that Jeremiah, whose real name was John Johnston, had been buried around the turn of the century in a Los Angeles veteran's plot. They decided that the old "liver eater," as he was known in the Wild West, would be happier buried among the mountains of Wyoming than the freeways of Los Angeles.

The students presented their proposal to the Veterans Administration, which agreed to the transfer of Jeremiah's remains to the locale of his legendary exploits.

Rufus Wilson, the VA cemetery boss, explained to us that the decision was "a real historic thing." Allegations of commercialism, he said, were unfounded.

The celebrated reburial was challenged, nevertheless, by Rep. John Melcher, D-Mont., who told us the Justice Department had informally advised him that the project appeared to violate regulations.

The national cemetery regulations state that burials are deemed to be "permanent and final." Disinterment is allowed only for "coherent reasons," including a court order or the written consent of all close living relatives.

After Melcher raised his objections, Wilson agreed to put a hold on the project. But the following day, he changed his mind and authorized the disinterment. He said the regulations had been incorrectly interpreted.

Congressional experts fear the case could set a bad precedent. "Under (Wilson's) interpretation of the rules," said one aide, "the next thing we'd expect the Chamber of Commerce of General Pershing's home town asking for his bones to be dug up."

Footnote: A spokesman for Warner Bros. denied that the movie makers promoted Jeremiah Johnson's reburial, calling the event a "fluky publicity break." As for Robert Redford, he lives in the mountains and has a genuine interest in the mountain man he portrayed.

SENATE WHISPERS: There have been whispers in the Senate cloakroom that, if too many embarrassing tapes are subpoenaed at an impeachment trial, the President may release some of his taped conversations with individual senators.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., acknowledged that he could be hurt by the release of his private talks with the President, because he probably used "the most embarrassing language of any senator on the White House tapes."

If his conversations were released, said the candid Goldwater, "I would be sorely tempted — although I would try to resist — to vote (against the White House) on that basis alone."

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., said he remembered the "high points but not the low points" of his meetings with the President. If embarrassing conversations were made public, said the senator, "we'd have to say he (the President) lost stature in our sight."

Most senators agreed with Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott, who said the release of presidential senatorial tapes "would push senators over to the other side."

WASHINGTON WHIRL: The House impeachment staff still is relying upon the investigations of others to build the case against President Nixon. House investigators haven't yet gotten around themselves to interviewing some of the key Watergate figures. The staff has placed great stress upon the White House tapes, including those President Nixon is still refusing to hand over. Some committee members contend the staff is counting, foolishly, on the President to hang himself. Justice Department specialists are worried about computer fraud. Embarrassers with a mastery of computers are able to cheat banks and businesses by manipulating the right buttons. The crime is difficult to trace and to prove through the maze of tangled computer tapes.

Ginger Allen, identifying herself as a "free lance" working on a deadline, picked up a press copy of a study on the B-1 bomber project the other day. She also attended a press conference on Capitol Hill where she asked at least one question. We have now identified her as an employee of Rockwell International, which has a big financial stake in the B-1 bomber. Another Rockwell employee, Doug Larsen, dispatched a messenger to Capitol Hill to pick up a copy of the press release. The messenger delivered the document, however, to an Air Force office at the Pentagon. "I wanted to make sure they had the thing," Larsen told us.

Doctor Need, Doctor Training

The new dean of the Albert Einstein College of Medicine in New York has the right idea about medical schools' responsibility at a time when the demand for health services is rapidly increasing. Dr. Ephraim Friedman, who previously was dean of the Boston University Medical School, said in an interview that "training enough doctors to meet the nation's health needs is a major priority."

Dr. Friedman elaborated on the point as follows: "Enactment of a comprehensive program of national health is only a matter of time. This will increase the demand for more and better training of physicians. Society, for better or worse, right or wrong, wants more doctors and more complete health care."

The setting for these remarks is a medical school which has almost doubled the size of its entering class over the past five years. Albert Einstein also has made available an accelerated three-year curriculum, a factor dramatized this year by holding two commencements: 87 graduates who had gone through the traditional four-year course received their diplomas on May 23, and in early June degrees were awarded to a three-year graduating class of 83.

We share Dr. Friedman's concern about the need to train doctors at a faster rate. His call for "greater emphasis on the training of primary-care physicians to serve the overall needs of the patient and the family" strikes a responsive chord. It must be noted, however, that the vogue for the three-year medical school curriculum is not universally approved in the profession.

Questions about it were raised the other day, for instance, by Dr. Neal A. Vanselow, who has just left the University of Michigan Medical School to become dean of the University of Arizona College of Medicine. He plans a review of Arizona's three-year curriculum with a view to seeing whether it "crams too much learning into too little time." That is an important question. Rising demand for more doctors must be balanced against the need for first-rate training.

Morton on Resources

Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton has, rather surprisingly, joined the ranks of those who are biting the bullet on the question of natural resources. The tenor of his remarks occasions some surprise because they do not appear to jibe with President Nixon's brave talk of United States self-sufficiency in energy by 1980. What Morton called for in a recent interview was much more intensive management of resources, including land use management, to avert a major crisis.

The secretary also made it clear that he had in mind not only our own country but society as a whole. Both the United States and the world in general must adopt long-range planning, he said, adding that "if we don't do this between now and the turn of the century, civilization will be faced with virtually rebuilding itself."

It is significant that Morton says he has been seeking authority to set in motion some long-range resources planning. This is a welcome development, even though there is as yet little indication that it will be undertaken. For as he says, at present "we just don't project forward; we don't have the machinery to do it. Our political system isn't geared to it. It just doesn't happen."

More Fish Farming

The Associated Press recently distributed a photograph showing workmen putting out nets on waters at a fish-breeding farm in China. The caption said the facility has thus far produced seven and a half billion fish. What that figures out to in terms of poundage we do not know, but it is clear that this farm has provided a lot of food for Chinese tables.

The picture and caption are a reminder that our country has not yet done nearly as much as it might to utilize this means of augmenting food supplies. There is some fish farming in the United States, but it could be greatly increased. At a time when meat prices stand at near-record levels, this could do much to make more high quality protein available at relatively low cost.

For a variety of reasons, the Atlantic fisheries produce a good deal less seafood than in times past when the population was much smaller. Fish farming on a large scale could make up the difference. In the face of a burgeoning world food crisis, Americans are being urged to eat less meat and more cereal grains. Fish harvested from ponds throughout the country would provide another alternative.

BERRY'S WORLD

No matter how well the average wage earner does in salary, the raise seems to sift through the hands as quickly as the dough a decade ago. It was Louis B. Mayer, I believe, who was fond of jacking his salary to the top of the national heap every year, even though he practically owned Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The last I recall of Mr. Mayer's income was something like $550,000. Anyone making $15,700 a week doesn't have to pick it up. He can hire a couple of private policemen to carry it for him. And yet, it sounds insecure compared to Richard Gerstenberg's $923,000 a year as chairman of General Motors.

Someone may write a book called "Money Is Meaningless." But I won't buy it. I enjoy the crisp crackle of currency in my wallet, especially when each bill wears two digits.

David Berliner, who is also fascinated by heavy sugar, wrote an article in New York magazine not long ago in which he explained that Henry Ford II took a cut in salary from $874,000 a year down to $865,000.

It takes guts, pal. Of course, there are items which are not figured in a gentleman's salary, like million dollar insurance policies, stock options and expense accounts.

Bella Abzug, a Congressperson who loves hats, earns $42,000. It sounds like a lot for riding the rich, but Mary Bacon, a jockey, is said to jam $75,000 into her purse. Think of the millions promised to Warfield, Klieck and Czomka for taking their old skills to a new football league.

Money, money, money. You buy a bottle of liquor, but it doesn't occur to you that D.C. Bell, president of National Distillers, gets a piece of it — $214,914 to be exact. Study your TV Guide and it might state: "Johnny Carson returns tonight." What he is returning for is a million a year.

David Brinkley, who gives us the wry boyish slant on NBC news, gets $250,000. This is only $20,000 less than Lester Burcham gets for running all those hundreds of F. W. Woolworth stores. Even former Vice President Spiro Agnew, who condemned the press for writing what he considered fiction, is now doing it himself for scads of money.

I wonder if Ma Bell sends a phone bill to John deButts, chairman of the board of AT&T. He can afford it, his salary hopped in one year from $207,000 to $325,000. A few publishers are high, editorially speaking. Hedley Donovan of Time Magazine draws $241,693, a complex figure to compute.

Osborn Elliott, editor of Newsweek, is paid half what Donovan gets. Florida's little baby tennis pro, Chris Evert, can count up to $142,000. Dr. Frank Field, the NBC weatherman, is an old thorn in my side. Mark him for $73,500. Our V.P., Gerald Ford, is paid $62,600, but oh, those extras!

Remember John Gambling on WOR radio? $500,000 for a police lieutenant in New York and is paid $22,000. My father had that rank and earned $3,700. Eastern Airlines laid off pilots in the energy crunch, but chairman Floyd Hall is still earning over $200,000.

Once I was the highest-paid rewrite on The Daily Mirror. I got $4,160. Seymour Hersh, reporter for The New York Times, is paid $32,000. Henry Kissinger, the obvious choice for the Nobel Peace Prize next year, doesn't get twice what Hersh gets, $60,000.

Even Morris the Cat, who does those finicky TV commercials, is paid $10,000 a year. Joe Namath, who parlayed bum knees into a fortune, models pantyhose and, adding one thing to another, drags himself to the bank with $250,000 a year.

Tom Seaver has been losing a few for the Mets, but he's on the pad for $172,000.

Gloria Steinem, who emasculates male chauvinist pigs, earns a pittance as editor of Ms. Magazine, $21,000.

John Zuccotti, chairman of New York City's planning commission, planned himself from $41,000 last year to $43,255 this year. I cannot imagine what a Rockefeller would do with an additional buck, but David, chairman of Chase Manhattan, risks a rupture lugging $230,000 home. Mayor Beame of New York needs a press agent. He pays Lou Vench a lousy $10,000.

Inside Report

known dissidents such as Andrei Sakharov would be silenced. Nevertheless, the clamp-down on contacts with the U.S. embassy is the worst ever.

Stoessel's telegram points to "intensified Soviet security monitoring of American citizen-Soviet citizen contacts" to "Overt KGB harassment of Soviets seeking (U.S.) consular advice or assistance"; and to American travelers being "The target of closer surveillance." His conclusion: "In all cases, there seem to be complications in recent months which were not in evidence as recently as three months ago."

Until then, U.S. embassy protests kept Soviet militiamen from blocking access to the embassy of Soviet citizens with written invitations to discuss problems such as reunification with families in the United States. "Beginning in early March, however, the militia began once again to deny entry even to persons with such invitations in hand," Stoessel reported.

These citizens are now routinely taken to a large militia shack constructed on the street corner near the embassy several months ago (with militiamen often employing "considerable force" to prevent them from entering the embassy, according to Stoessel). His April 1 protest to the Soviet government accomplished nothing.

On the morning of May 29, seven days after Stoessel's telegram to Washington, a 30-year-old medical laboratory technician named Mikhail Ilyitch Paransky approached the embassy with an invitation from consular officials. In March, a request for him and his family to emigrate to Dallas, Texas, (home of his brother) had been denied and he lost his job. Now he was intercepted outside the embassy by militiamen and taken to their booth.

Protests by U.S. consular officers to the militia commander and the foreign ministry were to no avail. On May 30, the embassy suggested that the State Department notify the Soviet embassy in Washington, but there is no sign this was done.

The Paransky case is duplicated daily. On May 29, militiamen not only barred Vladimir Barynin from the embassy but confiscated his written invitation. On May 30, a West German diplomat, seeking to enter the embassy to obtain a U.S. visa, was barred and interrogated by militiamen before he could identify himself.

Although Nixon administration officials stress recently rising emigration from Russia, Stoessel reports "an apparent step-up in refusing exit visas. According to Stoessel, secret police have interrogated Soviet citizens seeking to rejoin close family members in the United States and "warned against discussing their cases with U.S. consular officers."

Moreover, Stoessel reports local authorities "have gone to extra lengths to frustrate or delay" marriages between Soviet and American citizens. "For the first time in recent memory," officials refused to register one such marriage that actually had taken place. Stoessel's conclusion: "The KGB has been given 'a relatively free hand' to prevent such marriages."

This tightened fist applies to American visitors, particularly Jews, contacting Soviet citizens. On May 7, ten American Jews embarked on a bus with several politically activist Soviet Jews for a picnic along the Kaluzhskoye Shosse 17 miles from Moscow. When the bus arrived, it was surrounded by over a hundred Soviet security men. The Jews, both American and Soviet, were jailed, manhandled and refused access to the picnic area.

Such treatment, increasingly common for Americans seeking to contact Russians, will not be encountered by President Nixon at the Moscow summit. But it shows that the genuine quest for détente, no matter how laudable, is having little moderating impact on Soviet repression.

Inflation Key Issue, Says Senate Hopeful

Richard E. Schermerhorn of Cornwall. (R.C. 40).

Kimpel, a 52-year-old industrial relations expert from Wawick, charged that the Hudson River Valley area's economic conditions are "outright poor due to lack of job opportunities and an undue burden on real property owners who have to foot more than their fair share to pay for public education and welfare."

Legislators Focus on County Jail

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON A resolution calling for the acceptance of $31,969.18 as the full insurance settlement for damage to the Ulster County Jail during a series of inmate-set fires in March will be introduced when the Ulster County Legislature meets on Wednesday.

Legislators will also consider whether to approve funds for the hiring of three additional matrons "in order to properly staff the women's detention facility at the Ulster County Jail."

Noting that partial settlement of the fire claim in the amount of $16,763 was accepted by the Legislature during May, the resolution introduced by the County Buildings Committee calls on the Legislature to accept an additional $15,206.18 as full settlement of the claim.

The settlement in May was said to be strictly for cleanup, but Building Committee Chairman Robert H. Kuhlmann explained that since then the county has renegotiated with the insurance carrier and arrived at the $31,969.18 figure for which it is felt all the cleaning, painting and other corrective work can be done. Kuhlmann indicated that some of the original $16,763 that was accepted may now be used toward work needed due to the fires other than just cleanup.

The initial damage estimate in March ran in excess of $50,000, but it was pointed out then that the figure might have to be adjusted.

At least 17 prisoners were reported injured during the March 6 and 7 fires, several of whom required hospital treatment.

There have been conflicting reports as to why prisoners set first fires. Sheriff William B. Martin has blamed drug addicts and prisoners who wished to be taken to the hospital. However, State Commission of Correction inspectors termed the mattress fires "demonstrations" and attributed them to "continued mistreatment of prisoners" in a "confidential" report previously revealed by the Freeman.

The report said the "primary cause" of the mattress burning incidents "was the lack of administration, guards and prisoners and lack of proper supervision."

The confidential special report on the fires, an escape at the jail, and a drug smuggling incident, which is apparently considered a secret document by the Commission, is critical of the jail administration for not reporting the fires and other incidents.

The report states that when Sheriff Martin was questioned why the incidents "... were not reported to the Commission of Correction as required by law, he stated that he felt that they were not serious enough to be reported."

The resolution calling for three additional matrons at the jail will, if passed, quadruple the number of full-time matrons authorized.

The resolution, introduced by the Sheriff's Committee, asks that $7,500 be transferred from the contingent account to the jail account to pay three new matrons at the rate of $5,000 each per year for six months beginning July 1.

At present only one full-time matron is authorized, although the number of matrons who work at the jail has been greater. Sheriff's Committee chairman Clifford Snyder explained that the resolution will, in effect, create three new permanent positions if passed.

TOWN OF SHAWANGUNK

A 20-year-old Pine Bush man was killed Sunday night when he was hurled from his car as it flipped over during a rain storm on New Prospect Road in the Town of Shawangunk.

Meanwhile, in Dutchess County, a 23-year-old Pleasant Valley woman was killed in a hit-and-run car-pedestrian mishap early Sunday on Route 44 in the Town of Pleasant Valley. Killed in the Shawangunk mishap was Bruno K. Gailis of RD 2, Pine Bush, according to town police, who investigated the 8:10 p.m. crash.

Police said Gailis, driving alone in his car, was rounding a slight curve on New Prospect Road when he lost control of his compact car. The car overturned and Gailis was ejected. Police said the car wound up upright in a ditch, Gailis was taken to Horton Memorial Hospital in Middletown by the Shawangunk

Rescue Squad, but he died struck by what at the time was an unknown vehicle.

She was pronounced dead at autopsy was scheduled for today to determine the exact cause of death.

Killed in the Dutchess County scene, and at about 11 a.m. Sunday Richard J. Maloney, 21, of 31 Holmes Street, Poughkeepsie was arrested and charged with leaving the scene of an accident and being an unlicensed operator. Other charges are pending, state police said.

Martha Makes Debut On Television Show

NEW YORK (AP) — A told nothing when her husband slimmed down Martha Mitchell got the call and did not learn with a brand-new short hairdo about Watergate until she read said today "I'm wearing a Los Angeles newspaper after black dress in honor of the second anniversary of Watergate." Mitchell and other Republican leaders had flown back to Washington.

"Despite what's been said and written," she said, "Haldeman was the man who told it to all the people in California. I can swear to that."

Mrs. Mitchell said her husband resigned as director of Nixon's 1972 campaign because she demanded that he do so.

"Mitchell resigned because it was either Martha or the campaign," she said.

Smiling broadly, Mrs. Mitchell said he did so despite the fact that "the King needed him desperately. People in the administration called Mr. Nixon King Richard."

An expert said the modified page-boy hair style, just covering Mrs. Mitchell's ears, is known as "a flip." It replaced the famous bun on the top of her head which was her trademark during her years in Washington. Sources at CBS said she had lost 20 pounds recently.

Saugerties League Reports on Township

SAUGERTIES The June meeting of the Saugerties League of Women Voters featured reports on the local Study Item on Town and Village Government. Mrs. Robert Bailey presented her report on the Town Highway Department, which included the facilities, services and problems of the public road system in the Township. Mrs. John Lowther addressed the membership on Town and Village Police and Fire protection.

The Saugerties League has chosen to continue its local study of Town and Village Governments in the coming 1974-75 Club year, with emphasis on the public road system. The thrust of the study will be directed towards ways of obtaining the most efficient transportation system for the Saugerties taxpayer, according to Mrs. Richard Redder, president.

Membership in the League is open to every citizen 18 years and older; the resolution admitting men to full membership was passed at the National Convention on May 7, 1974.

Anyone desiring information concerning membership is invited to contact Mrs. Ralph Childers, membership chairman, or any League member.

The wholesale truckers complained that retail trucks are tying up limited loading ramp space and slowing operations. The protesters demanded they be given access to the loading platforms at midnight instead of 4 a.m. in order to speed up their operations and reduce the congestion that results from retail loading at the same ramps.

Truckers Cut Main Food Line In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Rebelious truck drivers cut the city's main food supply line for six hours this morning in a protest action over the work schedule and congestion at the sprawling Hunts Point Market in the Bronx.

The tie-up was produced by about 150 independent truck drivers and helpers handling wholesale food shipments who staged a "park-in" that blocked the toll gates to the market prior to the 4 a.m. opening of the facility.

The tie-up was on Hunts Point Avenue at the East River and involved 30 trucks initially. About 10 a.m. the police dispatched tow trucks to the scene to clear the blockade, and shortly afterward traffic was reported moving on the avenue.

Market officials met with the protesters and wholesalers at mid-morning to try to settle the dispute.

The wholesale truckers complained that retail trucks are tying up limited loading ramp space and slowing operations.

The protesters demanded they be given access to the loading platforms at midnight instead of 4 a.m. in order to speed up their operations and reduce the congestion that results from retail loading at the same ramps.

Woman Robbed In Highland

HIGHLAND Two men robbed an elderly Highland tavern owner of some $500 late Sunday night as she entered her home on Vineyard Avenue, state police said today.

The woman, identified as Mrs. Hazel Witharwar, owner of the Village Tavern, was entering her home which adjoins the tavern at about 10:30 p.m. when the robbery occurred, police said.

No weapons were used, and the woman was not injured, police said.

According to BCI investigators, the men gained entry to the woman's home through a window.

No description of the alleged robbers was available.

BCI investigators are continuing their probe of the case.

OCS Teachers To Demonstrate

BOICEVILLE At a special district wide meeting held at the Ontario High School last Thursday night, members of the Ontario Teachers Association expressed strong dissatisfaction at the lack of progress being made on negotiating a new contract with the district.

The association also gave a unanimous vote of confidence to its own negotiating team and voted to demonstrate its solidarity with the negotiators by picketing outside the high school in Boiceville tonight between 7:30 and 8 before the school board begins its meeting.

Garrow Takes Stand In Upstate Murder Trial

LAKE PLEASANT, N.Y. (AP) — Robert Garrow took the stand at his murder trial today and wept as he described a rape he said nobody had known about before.

Garrow, seated in a wheelchair was questioned by his attorney, Francis Belge, who asked Garrow about an incident that had taken place shortly after he was married.

"What did you do outside the house?" Belge asked. "I guess you'd call it rape. Nobody knows about that—just the doctors—you're putting me on the spot," Garrow said.

"I know it," Belge said.

Garrow put his hand to his flushed face and wept silently. "You're putting me on the spot."

Garrow's other court-appointed attorney Frank Armani interrupted and said Garrow was not prepared to take the stand as a witness.

Judge George Marthen, called a brief recess. Garrow was the opening witness for the defense.

Garrow, 38, of Syracuse, is charged with stabbing Philip Dombrowski, 18, of Schenectady, last July 29 at a campsite near Speculator.

Belge opened questioning of Garrow by asking him to describe his life from his childhood.

"THE BEDROOM SECRET NOBODY KNEW"

"My friends thought I had everything: a nice home, furniture, even a color TV. But nobody knew my bedroom secret: a tired, sagging, worn-out mattress. My back ached and I was crabby because I couldn't get a good night's sleep.

"Then I visited Burt and Jerry, those grand guys at VAN WINKLE BEDDING. They weren't joking when they said, 'Lie down, we want to talk to you.' I tested their 15 sample mattresses ranging from soft to super-firm. They explained that a better mattress holds its shape longer and feels more comfortable through the years.

"I selected their best posture-support mattress which cost me a lot less than its name-brand rival. Now I have everything . . . and a good night's sleep too!"

Are you ashamed of your mattress? Don't wait until your back complains. Most mattresses give out in about 8 to 12 years. Treat yourself or someone else you love to one of life's most precious gifts: a luxurious night's rest . . . at factory prices too!

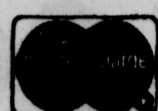

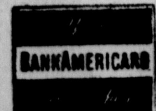

Find out: for yourself why people say, "On a Van Winkle mattress, you never had it so good."

HE LIKES IT — Arnold Palmer and members of his "army" seem pleased with the flight of the ball as he tees off during final round of U. S. Open Sunday. Palmer started his third round in third place but faded in the final nine. (UPI)

HAIL, KING IRWIN—Hale Irwin holds up his winner's trophy after he captured the U. S. Open Gold Championship Sunday at Winged Foot. He carded 3-over-par 73 for the final day and had a 72-hole total of 7-over-par 287. (UPI)

BLASTING OUT — Hale Irwin, en route to the U. S. Open Championship, blasts out of a trap on the eighth hole during final round of Open at Winged Foot. Irwin, a former football star at Colorado won golf's most prestigious title with 287. (UPI)

Hale (Who?) Irwin New U.S. Open Champ

MAMARONECK, N. Y. (AP) — Ladies and gentlemen, introducing the new Open golf champion of the United States: Hale Irwin.

"Hale who?"

"I am not a birdie machine like Jack Nicklaus and Tom Weiskopf," said the clerkish-looking, 29-year-old from Joplin, Mo., after scoring one of the biggest surprises in the 83-year history of America's premier golf championship Sunday.

"I like courses where pars and birdies don't come easy. I just plug along and wait for others to make mistakes. I've won one, I want to do something bigger. Like two majors in a four-day wrangle with a 6,196-yard monster called Winged Foot.

"Nicklaus has won 14. That's not a bad goal, is it?"

Patience and a low key, defensive attitude enabled Irwin to survive while the greatest champions of the game struggled vainly and even collapsed for what happened to Arnold young Tom Watson, who blew over par, saying, "It's a great course, I just never got to playing well."

The defending champion, Johnny Miller, who electrified the game with a record 63 in winning a year ago at Oakmont, Pa., closed with a 77 for 302. Five former champions didn't survive the cut.

Irwin played it cozy—never fretting, never fussing, never going in front until the ninth hole of the final round when he rolled in a weaving snake of 40 feet.

"That was the putt that turned it in my direction," he said.

Irwin's victory, with a first prize of $35,000 and perhaps a million in publicity, came as no surprise to him. His only other major were the Heritage Classic in 1972 and 1973.

"I had a dream about three weeks ago that I would win the Open," he told skeptical newsmen. "It's the Gospel truth. I told my wife, Sally, about it but I wouldn't dare tell anybody else."

"I knew the course was difficult," he said. "I couldn't expect to stay under par. So I decided to play for par and let the others make the mistakes." It was sound strategy.

Open Title Will Never Change the 1974 Winner

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (UPI) — Hale Irwin is no Lee Trevino.

Lee Trevino won his first U.S. Open and became a personality overnight, buying tequila for the boys, spinning funny stories on all the TV talk shows and endorsing so many different products, he never could keep complete track of them.

Hale Irwin is cut from a different bolt of cloth.

The U.S. Open title is never going to change him. Never. Not Hale Irwin.

Not once after Sunday's final round 73 wrapped up the title for him by two strokes did he tell a single funny story.

As he pointed out, his name isn't exactly a household word.

Go ask the man on the street, the one who follows the stock market much closer than he does the pro tour, to name you five golfers, and more than likely he'll say Arnold Palmer . . . Jack Nicklaus . . . Gary Player . . . Sam Snead, maybe . . . and then . . . uh . . .

So even though Hale Irwin has no objection to money, that wasn't uppermost on his mind during the Open.

"Everybody equates winning the Open or the Masters with making a lot of money," Irwin said even before he actually won the title. "Hand-in-hand with that is the recognition you get, the sense of personal achievement. You'd have to feel terrific if you did win something like this knowing you've beaten the world's best over the world's toughest course, and knowing, too, you didn't fluke into it."

Irwin, playing steadily if not spectacularly, didn't fluke into it.

On the ninth, one of Winged Foot's tougher holes, he rolled in a 35-footer for a birdie which put him in front to stay.

On the back nine, he ran into trouble but tediously worked his way out practically every time. He knocked his drive into the rough on No. 11, only to recover with a fine approach and a 26-foot birdie putt. Again on 17, he put his drive into rough, and worse yet, hit a little nubber for his second that barely made the fairway. He had at least a bogey staring him in the face, a bogey which would've dropped him back into a tie, but his next shot was a thing of beauty six feet of the pin and he sank his putt for a par.

Palmer Disappointed But Vows He'll Return

By STEVE WILSTEIN
UPI Sports Writer

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (UPI) — Arnold Palmer, saying the "roar of the crowd is too good to leave behind," promised to try again next year to win the U.S. Open after barely missing for the third year in a row.

"I played well enough to feel like there's no reason to stop playing," Palmer said. "I love to hear the crowds and I love the game. And I still think I can win. Hell, had I been putting like I was earlier in the week I'd have won this thing."

Palmer's putting failed him in the final round as he three putted twice and missed several chances at birdies to finish with a 76 for a 72-hole total of 292, good for a fifth place tie but five strokes behind winner Hale Irwin.

"I putted terrible today," Palmer said. "It cost me six putts I should've made. Sure I feel a little disappointed. You always do when you have a good opportunity to win but leave it somewhere out on the golf course. There was just something lacking. I guess maybe it was confidence. But I played well enough not to feel too bad."

He was standing on it. He won the Masters. He led after the first round of the Open and was tied for it after the second. But he blew it with a 77 in Saturday's third round and struck out with a 73-293 and a tie for eighth Sunday.

Arnold Palmer, the perennial sentimental favorite who was gunning for his first major title in 10 years: Jack Nicklaus, going for a record-equalling four U.S. Open crowns; 62-year-old Sam Snead, seeking the only major title ever to elude him; Johnny Miller, looking to cop consecutive Open titles for the first time since Ben Hogan in 1950-51, and youngsters Forrest Fezler and Tom Watson, often challengers but never winners on the pro tour, all were bitterly disappointed.

Palmer said he still felt he had a chance to win or tie when he was on the 17th hole. He looked at the scoreboard and saw Forrest Fezler had just finished at 289. Irwin was right behind Palmer with third round leader Tom Watson and Palmer trailed Irwin, who bogeyed the 16th, by three shots.

"I felt that if I could make the putt on 17 (for par) and birdie 18, I could still be in it," Palmer said. "If I make that putt and he hears the crowd, then I birdie 18 and he hears the crowd again, there's no telling what might've happened. Crowds can shake up anybody."

Player Was Real Prophet

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Gary Player proved to be a prophet.

"This will be a week of disappointment," the South African predicted five days ago when he took the lead in the first round of the United States Open Golf Championship.

"There will be many, many disappointments for many people," he said.

It was the most accurate statement of the week.

Player, the gentleman rancher from Johannesburg, didn't get past second base in his bid for a home run of golf-winning the Masters, U.S. Open, British Open and PGA titles all in one year.

He was standing on it. He putted twice and missed several chances at birdies to finish with a 76 for a 72-hole total of 292, good for a fifth place tie but five strokes behind winner Hale Irwin.

"I putted terrible today," Palmer said. "It cost me six putts I should've made. Sure I feel a little disappointed. Rain Zips Amateur

KINGSTON

A torrential downpour cancelled out the scheduled second round of the 1974 Ulster County Amateur Golf Championship Sunday at The Twaalfskill Club.

But not before it had accomplished something good and something bad.

Only 19 players had completed their first nine holes when play was halted after the steady rain had inundated the second and fourth greens.

During that time, however, tournament leader Leon Randall had made the turn in sizzling 3-under-par 32 and Charlie Shiverick of Woodstock Country Club had aced the par-three second hole.

(Sunday's cancellation means that the tournament will be reduced to 54 holes, with the field reduced to the low 27 and ties after next Saturday's "second" round at Woodstock Country Club).

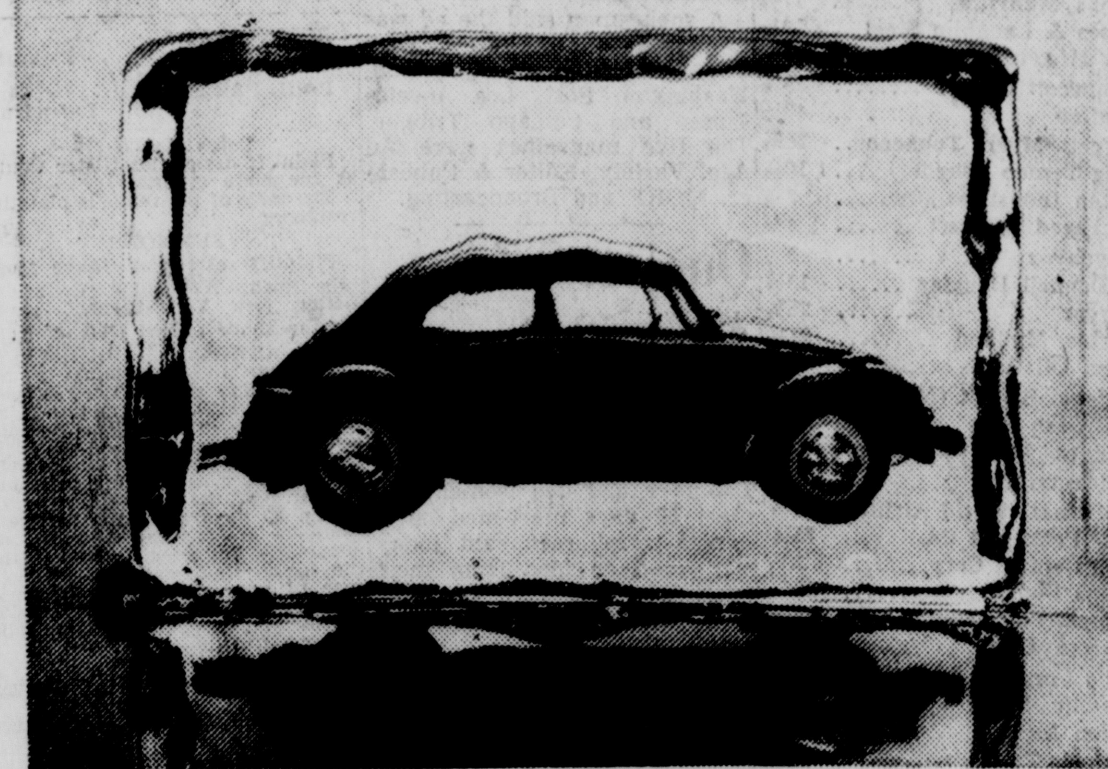

Some other fine scores went

Europe Leads Soccer

FRANKFURT, Germany they all proved tougher than expected. The Latin American football powers—Brazil, Uruguay, Chile and Argentina—have collected just one point so far.

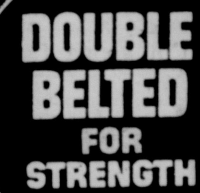

And to make matters worse, Chile's Carlos Caszely is suspended from Tuesday's game with East Germany. World Cup commissioners were meeting Monday to consider the case of Uruguay's Montero Castillo.

Caszely's suspension in particular highlighted controversy over the World Soccer Federation's refereeing rules, which make a yellow card caution mandatory for time-wasting or dissent. Two cautionable offenses mean automatic dismissal from the match, a rule that cost Caszely.

In the first half against West Germany, Turkish referee Dogan Babacan showed Caszely the yellow card for a comparatively innocent clash with Juergen Grabowski. In the second half, Caszely was fouled by West Germany's Hans-Hubert Vogts.

Caszely made the mistake of retaliating with a hot-tempered tackle, meriting a caution. And that in turn meant automatic dismissal.

Andy's New Twist: Curve for Strikes

NEW YORK (AP) — Andy Messersmith has come up with a new twist—a curve ball.

Oh, he's had a curve ball before, but never like the one he's throwing this year for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I always could throw a big breaking pitch but I've never been as consistent with it as now," Messersmith noted after beating the New York Mets 7-1 Sunday. "Now I can throw the curve for strikes."

A more confident Messersmith exemplifies the swaggering attitude of the Dodger team.

The Dodgers not only are winning, but winning with flamboyance—like Sunday when they chased Met ace Tom Seaver with a five-run seventh inning.

"Yeah," said Messersmith. "It's been a good year all around. I've never pitched as well as I have this year. Baseball has been fun."

Against the Mets, Messersmith not only had command of his curve ball, but his fastball and changeup as well. That's the kind of pitching that has accelerated the Dodgers to a runaway lead in the strong National League's West Division.

"Andy's been outstanding," said Los Angeles Manager Walter Alton, talking about a pitcher who has won seven of nine games and given up but two runs in his last four assignments. Before Sunday's game, he earned run average was 2.37—best among the Los Angeles starters.

Before handcuffing the Mets Sunday, Messersmith lost a 1-0 decision to St. Louis and before that posted shutouts over Chicago and Pittsburgh.

"I've never pitched four consecutive games as well as this in my life," said Messersmith, who was a star of the California Angels staff before he became a Dodger two years ago.

Coincidentally, Messersmith has not been drawing easy assignments this year. He often has had the bad luck of pitching against the other team's ace.

"I don't feel the pressure anymore," he said, smiling. "I'm kind of getting used to it."

One out away from his third straight shutout, Messersmith lost it on a double by Rusty Staub and John Milners' single in the ninth.

Also in the National League, Clay Carroll, who's finished a lot more games than he's started, teamed with Pedro Borbon to pitch the Cincinnati Reds to a seven-hit 5-0 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Carroll, 41, set a National League record of 37 saves in 1972 and was making his 23rd start in 551 major league appearances. He pitched eight innings of six-hit ball before giving way to Borbon.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers thumped Tom Seaver and the New York Mets 7-1. The St. Louis Cardinals downed the Atlanta Braves 6-3. The Pittsburgh Pirates vacated the East Division cellar by edging the San Francisco Giants 4-3. The Montreal Expos outslugged the San Diego Padres 9-8 and the Chicago Cubs nipped the Houston Astros 2-1 in 10 innings.

Cardinals 6, Braves 3
Ted Sizemore drilled a tie-breaking single in the seventh inning and St. Louis added three decisive runs in the ninth on a bases-loaded walk to Ted Simmons and Joe Torre's two-run single. Darrell Evans had tied it for the Braves in the sixth on a solo homer off winner Lynn Glothen.

Pirates 4, Giants 3
Jim Rooker survived a three-run first inning and went on to pitch a five-hitter, lifting the Pirates out of the East Division cellar for the first time since April 25. They are one game ahead of the Mets and seven behind the Phillies.

Expos 9, Padres 8
Willie Davis homered with one out in the ninth to tie the score and Ken Singleton walked and scored on Ron Fairly's double.

Cubs 2, Astros 1
Andre Thornton, pinch hitting for a pinch hitter, drew a bases-loaded walk after a pair of intentional passes in the 10th inning.

USC wound up the season with a 50-20 mark. Miami, making its first appearance in the series, entered co-ranked No. 1 with Texas.

The Hurricane loss continued the frustration of eastern teams in the NCAA series. An eastern school hasn't won the tourney since Wake Forest downed Western Michigan 7-6 in 1955.

"Overall, I am extremely proud of this club. No matter what happened I still consider them No. 1," Miami Coach Ron Fraser said. "The errors hurt our ball club and helped give USC four runs. Help is something USC doesn't need in a championship game."

George Milke claimed the victory in relief for Southern California, his third in the series, to earn him the Most Valuable Player award.

Yankees Buy Angels' May
ANAHEIM (UPI) — Left-hander Rudy May of the California Angels has been sold to the New York Yankees but he won't have to go far to report to his new club.

The Angels host New York at Anaheim Stadium in the opening game of a three-game series tonight.

The 29-year-old May only pitched 27 innings this season and had an 0-1 record with a 7.00 ERA. He was in his seventh season with California.

The sale of May Sunday was the only deal California General Manager Harry Dalton could come up with before Saturday night's trading deadline passed.

WEIGH-IN TIME — Edward Dooley (back to camera) chairman of the N. Y. Boxing Commission weighs heavyweight boxer Jerry Quarry in Sunday ceremony in New York. Looking on is ex-heavy champ Joe Louis (L) who will referee the fight; Kenneth Sherwood, a member of the commission; and Joe Frazier who meets Quarry in 12-round bout tonight. Quarry weighed 197½, Frazier 212. (UPI)

Joe and Jerry Even

NEW YORK (AP) — The new Jerry Quarry and Joe Frazier, trying to prove he's the same old Smokin' Joe, met tonight in a scheduled 12-round heavyweight fight at Madison Square Garden.

Reno oddsmakers have called the rematch an even fight.

In a departure from the policy of not announcing the fight officials until fight time, the New York Athletic Association announced last Thursday that it had licensed and designated former heavyweight champion Joe Louis as referee.

The fight is scheduled to start at 10 p.m. EDT, as the first half of a national closed-circuit television card, followed by the 15-round light heavyweight title match between champion Bob Foster and Jorge Ahumada in Albuquerque, N.M. Frazier weighed in Sunday at 212 pounds, three pounds more than the former world champion weighed when he lost a unanimous 12-round decision to Muhammad Ali Jan. 28. Quarry came in at 197½, 1½ pounds less than he weighed when he got off the floor to knock out Joe Alexander May 8.

In 1969 Quarry tried to outslug Frazier, then recognized as champion by six states, and was stopped in seven rounds.

"There's a lot of speculation that I'm gonna fight that way again," said Quarry who at 29 appears to be fighting better than he ever has. "But I'm not going to try to outslug him this time."

"I don't see any changes in Jerry," said Frazier. "When a man gets hit he goes back to doing what he ordinarily does."

The 30-year-old Frazier is out to prove that he has not lost the power and fury that made him a champion. If he cannot make his point, his career probably is finished.

Frazier has a record of 30 pro victories, 25 by knockout, and two losses. The two losses came his last three fights—the two-round title loss to George Foreman and the rematch loss to Ali. The win during that span was a 12-round decision over European champion Joe Bugner.

Quarry, a Californian fighting out of New York, has won six straight since ending a brief retirement about 17 months ago, for a 52-6 record, with 29 knockouts.

Frazier, who earned about $5.5 million for his two fights with Ali, is guaranteed $400,000 against an option of 40 per cent of all income. Quarry is guaranteed $225,000 against 22½ per cent.

NFL Rookies in Bind

NEW YORK (AP) — With a fiery impasse having been reached between the National Football League Players' Association and the NFL Management Council regarding contract negotiations, this year's rookie crop finds itself caught between the two groups.

Although eligible for any Players' Association benefits acquired through the negotiations, whether a member of the group or not, rookies generally do not join the NFLPA until they have made the club.

But if the NFLPA strikes on July 1 and rookies remain away from training camp, they would not be eligible to be a member of the bargaining unit.

That point was brought out in a letter sent by the NFL Management Council to all rookies and free agents, John Thompson, executive director of the NFLMC said Sunday.

He said the letter urges the rookies and free agents not to join the NFLPA until the contract standoff has been settled.

The NFLPA's strike deadline is two weeks away. Negotiations were broken off angrily last Thursday and it was unclear when they would reconvene.

Lawson LPGA

Haynie Wins

MEDINA, Ohio (UPI) — Sandra Haynie won the fourth hole of a sudden death playoff over Gloria Ehret with a par 4 Sunday to capture the $40,000 Lawson's LPGA Open golf tournament.

Miss Haynie, who picked up $5,700 for the victory, forced the playoff with a two-foot birdie putt on the final regulation hole of the tournament.

Miss Haynie, of Fort Worth, Tex., shot a three-under-par 69 in the final round and finished with a 54-hole total of one-under-par 215.

Miss Ehret, who shot a final round one-under-par 71, came to the 18th hole with a one-shot lead after breaking a three-way tie on the 15th with a two-foot birdie putt. She just missed another birdie on the 17th which would have given her a two-shot edge when her putt from nine feet away missed the cup by an inch.

Both girls parred the first three holes of the playoff, but not without some suspense.

Miss Ehret's three-foot putt on the first hole completely ringed the cup before falling in. On the second hole Miss Haynie had to sink a difficult sidehill four-footer to stay alive and both girls got routine pars on the third.

Just as the two players left the No. 3 green, a cloudburst hit the already soggy Weymouth Valley Country Club course, forcing play to be suspended for 15 minutes.

Miss Ehret's second shot on the fourth hole came up short of the green. She left her chip shot about 20 feet short of the hole and took two putts to get down.

Miss Haynie, who now has 30 career victories including another sudden death win over Miss Ehret in 1966, was about 25 feet above the hole. She left her first putt about a foot away and knocked it in for the victory.

Finishing two shots behind at 217 and in a tie for third place were Pam Barnett and second-round leader Sandra Post. They were tied for the lead with Miss Ehret until her birdie on 15. Miss Post had a final round 74 and Miss Barnett, who grabbed the early lead with birdies on the first two holes of the day, had an even par 72.

Carol Explains The LPGA Lag

MEDINA, Ohio (UPI) — Carol Mann, president of the LPGA executive board, says it's very simple why the women's golf tour isn't as lucrative as the men's.

"It's the same as Adam and Eve," she said while playing in the Lawson's LPGA open here this weekend. "Adam was around before Eve and the men started competing professionally before us girls."

"These people don't know the women golfers on the tour as well as the men because the guys get a lot more exposure than we do. All that television of the men's events helped them considerably. Because of that, they're known to all the true golf fans."

But for the girls, who were considering a boycott of the USA Women's Open July 18-21 at Lagrange Country Club in Lagrange, Ill., for a number of reasons — of which money was the prime consideration — the money and publicity is just beginning to come in.

"We're just blossoming and getting the fans on our side," said the 6-foot-3 blonde who has won 34 tour events in her professional golf career. "They didn't even know we existed for a while, but it's beginning to look just great for us."

"MOST EFFICIENT & QUIETEST"

Central Air Conditioner Around

It's here. From Carrier. The Super E Round One. The Central Air Conditioner with the highest-certified efficiency rating* on the market today. It gives you more cooling per dollar of electricity used than any other central air conditioner. This means you save energy as well as money. The Super E comes in 3 models . . . 23,000 Btu/h, 30,000 Btu/h, and 39,000 Btu/h. With Btu per watt ratings of 10.5, 10.0, & 10.3. That's real efficiency right across the board. And Carrier's Super E also has the lowest certified sound rating* . . . a mere 16 to be exact. This means it's the quietest central air conditioner on the market. As a matter of fact, the Super E generates only one-half the sound power of the next quietest certified unit. Since the Super E Round One represents the best value in central air conditioning today, chances are it'll soon be in short supply. So call us right away to find out how the Super E can save you energy and money.

A Division Invokes Stopper Rule Twice

KINGSTON A win over LaLima's. Seven runs in the second frame put the winners way out in front. Bob Lindhorst homered and drove in four runs to lead the attack. Joe Koenig homered for LaLima's.

Jim Atlee homered, doubled and chased four runs across the plate to head the Hurley Mt. Inn offense. Tom Jansen and Bill Egan added two RBI's apiece. Gordie Bell's three-run homer in the first put H&M on the road to a win. The winners got five runs in the initial frame and coasted behind Paul Richers five-hitter. Matt Weber hit one out for Potter Bros.

A home run by Ken Hoffstatter highlighted a 15-run first inning for Laura's which strung Mahoney's along for the minimum three-and-a-half frames. Tom Turco added a pair of doubles to the assault.

John Beesmer and John Phelan homered to pace the Lounge's relentless battering of loser Frank Young. Bob Otto belted one for the Boozers, but it was one of only five hits Bill Beesmer allowed.

Rolling Acres got round trippers from Rich Leveque, Rick Graham and Larry Lutackas to easily down Artie's. Graham also had a triple in support of winner Bill Cornell.

Costa Delivers Key Blast in RVLL Action

KINGSTON Pinch-hitter Johnny Costa delivered a two-out bases-loaded double in the bottom of the fifth inning in the Rondout Valley Little League, and that proved to be the decisive hit for the Mets. Two runs scored on the play to give the Mets a 6-5 victory over the Red Sox.

Winner Robby Gilliland survived a rocky start to pick up his third straight victory. He gave the Sox four quick runs in the first but only allowed one more the rest of the way. Jeff Burr homered for the losers.

Andy Connors turned in three scoreless innings in relief work to up his record to 3-3 and save a 13-3 win for Smedes of the Kingston American League.

Smedes bombed Rondout National Bank with a 15-hit attack that included two-baggers by Connors and Dino Thomas. Paul Loughlin was the loser, and Bob Reilly doubled for the Bankers.

Never Over Par
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Ralph Johnston of Garden City, N.Y., did well in his first Masters. In four rounds he never went over par 72 and finished with 285 to tie for 15th place. He won $2,900 or about $150 more than he had earned in the previous three months.

Johnston qualified for the 1974 Masters with a 13th place finish in the 1973 U.S. Open.

Petty Gets Congratulations

Petty First In State 400

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (UPI) — Richard Petty, winning — and he's four or five years older than I am — I'm going to keep on trucking."

Petty leads Yarborough, 1,304,850 to 1,271,775 in the Winston Cup overall standings and has a lead of 18,275 points on the second leg.

Finishing second, to the delight of the capacity crowd of 51,500, was rookie Canadian Driver Earl Ross of Ailsa Craig, Ont., who nosed out two-time defending race champion Pearson by the margin of working windshield wipers and a hot dog wrapper. The best of the six years of racing on this two-mile oval. His speed was a slow 127.987 miles an hour.

"Definitely," Petty responded quickly from behind his dark, oblong sunglasses when asked if winning was still a kick. "I probably appreciate it now more than I did when I started because I've seen what goes into it... how much it means to the guys."

"I'm 36," he said, "and as long as that dad-gummed (David) Pearson can keep on the winner's purse of $14,055.

KPA Rally Wins

KINGSTON Vols beat the Hurley Lions, 16-1, five errors to the losers' four, but all those men on base made the difference.

The Vols rapped out 14 hits including doubles by Joe Augustine and Bill Stote to bury the Lions. Gary LaConture went most of the way to get the victory. Vin Dingman took the defeat.

The VFW scored eight times in the third to break away from the Elks. Bob Schlanger weathered some rough early going to blank the Elks over the last five frames. Ed Debrosky rapped a pair of doubles to lead the winners' hitting.

Trio of Team Champions In Elementary Track

KINGSTON high jump and Serafin Tsiamis of Washington beat 26.9½ in the shot put.

The Kingston City Schools Elementary Track meet ended up with a trio of team Champions. In the boys division, Hurley and A. Devine tied for the title with 16½ team points apiece, and in the girls division, Port Ewen took the crown.

The S. Finn team placed third in the division with 15 points. Washington scored 13, Chambers 12, J.F.K., 10½, Lake Katrine 10, Meagher 10, Edson 4, Zena 3½, Tillson 1, and S. Truth, Birgham and Port Ewen went scoreless.

Hurley was the runnerup in the girls meet with 15 points. Brigham was third with 13, then Chambers with 11, Lake Katrine 9½, Meagher 9, S. Finn 8½, Washington 7, Zena 6, A. Devine 5, Truth 4, J.F.K. 4, Tillson 2 and Edson 0.

In the boys events, David Lang of Hurley won the 50 yard dash in 6.85 seconds. Devine's Doug Chase took the 100 in 12.45. Tom Hanley of Hurley won the 600 yard run in 1:37.9, and Meagher captured the 440 relay in 60.7 seconds.

In field events, Mike Paschall of Chambers won a winning 12-7 in the broad jump. John Kivlan of S. Finn cleared 4-4 in the Longevity isn't everything.

It's the old quantity-versus-quality business. We're not the first to reach the age of 100.

The point is: how well have we lived those 100 years?

Have we grown steadily? Yes.

Have our depositors' savings grown steadily? Indeed they have.

Have we grown in the scope of our services? In every sense—including the broadening of our geographic scope to include our Ramapo office in Rockland County, as well as hometown Kingston.

But most important: have we helped our community to grow along with us? Look around you. That answer, too, is Yes. And that's the answer we're most proud of.

Just reaching 100 is something. Celebrating 100 years of productive growth is something else.

FUNDING HELP—The Ulster County Youth Services Committee recently received a $550 donation from the IBM Corp. to conduct a survey of youth-serving organizations in Ulster County. The group hopes to solicit county-wide support for the establishment of a Youth Board, which would serve as the vehicle for obtaining and distributing state funds for youth oriented activities. Discussing the IBM grant are (L-R) Roger Vogt and Tom Phillips, members of UCYS's Youth Board Committee; Horace Sarr of IBM, vice-president of UCYS; Lou Crepet, president and S. Robert Kelder, chairman of the Youth and Recreation Committee of the Ulster County Legislature.

'Support' Reports Are Denied

BINGHAMTON Franklin B. Resseguie, a candidate for the Republican nomination in the 27th Congressional District, has denied reports that counties in the western part of the district are committed to the support of one of his opponents. "During my recent speaking engagement before the Town of Hurley Republican Club I was dismayed to learn that some of those in the audience believed that my opponent, Edwin Crawford, has been endorsed by the county chairmen in Broome, Tioga and Tompkins counties," Resseguie said. "All three counties are committed to open primaries — all three county chairmen have stated publicly that they will not endorse any candidate in the primary."

Town of Olive Recreation ... Complete Activities

TOWN OF OLIVE This year's recreation program for the Town of Olive is slated to run July 1 through Aug. 15 with a full range of activities. The program will be held at Davis Park, West Shokan, Monday through Thursday of each week, weather permitting, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. In the event of rain during the week there will be a Friday session. Children must have completed first grade of elementary school in order to participate. Kindergarten graduates may be brought to the field by their parents at 1:30 and will be sent home on the bus at 3 p.m.

But routes starting July 1 will be as follows:

1. Bus 1—Start at Mary Lou Lane at 9 a.m., travel along Route 28 to Reservoir Road, cross the dam at the Lazaro Development, travel Route 28A to Route 213 to Davis Corners, turn right to Weber Lane, turn right to Acorn Hill Road, then left onto 28A to Davis Park.
2. Bus 2 — Start at intersection of Ridge Road and Route 28 at 9 a.m., travel Route 28 to Boiceville, turn left onto Route 28A to Davis Park.
3. Bus 3 — Start at Krumville and Lyonsville Road at 9 a.m. to Samsonville, turn around and make a left at Sheldon Hill Road to Samsonville Road, to Watson Hollow Road, and right to Davis park.

Ron Pape will be recreation director with senior counselors Ingrida Opsis, Earl Proper, Paul Malek, William Reilly, Dee Burke, Sandy Malek, Mary Bachor, Alex de Nesnera and Susan Henderson. Junior Counselors are Debbie Dodge, Amy Crawford and Linda Melius. Pool hours and pool membership information may be obtained at the pool area.

Telephone calls to Broome County Chairman Mrs. Doris Brooks, Tioga County Chairman Mrs. Frances Leavenworth, and Tompkins County Chairman Jerry True confirmed that all are committed to open primaries and will not endorse any candidate. All said they would give full support to the candidate winning the nomination but denied that they would favor one candidate over another in the primary. Resseguie also denied reports that he had sought the support or endorsement of any county chairmen in the sprawling, six-county 27th District. "As I stated when I announced my candidacy, my campaign is for the grass roots voters and it was and is my intention to offer my candidacy to them uncompromised," Resseguie said he had visited each county chairman to announce his intention to run and to explain his reasons for running "but at no time did I seek their support or endorsement. I was warmly received by each of them. I know their area needs and sees no difficulty in filling those needs and in working with each of them in the future."

Ft. Wayne Man Finds Way To Relieve Burning Itch Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues For Hours
In Many Cases Medication Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief from Pain, Itching in Such Tissues.

Ft. Wayne, Ind. — Mr. Jack Prebola of this city states: "Preparation H does my itching good and it sure stopped the itch for hours." (Note: Doctors have proved Preparation H* in many cases gives relief for hours from pain and itching in hemorrhoidal tissues. It also actually helps shrink painful swelling of such tissues caused by inflammation and infection. There's no other formula like doctor-tested Preparation H. And no prescription is needed.)

UCCC Slated For $51,000

STONE RIDGE $51,000 recommended for Ulster is part of an appropriation of $2,550,000 made by the State Legislature for educational opportunity programs in community colleges outside New York City. The $51,000 recommended for UCCC will permit the college to enroll 60 full-time equivalent students in the educational opportunity program. Use of these funds will be restricted to direct student aid at an average of $850 per full-time equivalent student per academic year, or not more than $425 per student per semester.

Summer Session Registration Set

STONE RIDGE Ulster County Community College will hold registration for its Summer Sessions course on Friday, June 21, at the Stone Ridge campus, according to Ronald A. Koster, Associate Dean of Faculty for Continuing Education. The registration hours are 9 a.m. to noon and 7 to 9 p.m. Classes will start on Monday, June 24. The college is offering 24 credit courses during the day and 52 credit courses in the evening. Persons not wanting to take the courses for credit can do so by auditing them. A large number of students from other colleges and universities who live in the local area are expected to attend the summer sessions at Ulster, according to Dean Koster. These students will be taking courses for reasons of acceleration, personal enrichment, to make up credits for graduation or to raise academic averages. UCCC is fully accredited by the Middle States Association, and courses taken at the Stone Ridge campus generally will be accepted for credit by most colleges or universities in the U.S. Because Ulster is a public-supported college, its tuition is lower than it would be for the same courses at other colleges or universities.

Campaign Funding Is Analyzed

POUGHKEEPSIE of the campaign feed money. Receipts by analyzed source, $1,500 and Nancy Agell Streeter, A statement on campaign finance reform with public funding as well as a statement on his own campaign finances has been issued by Nicholas Angell, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 25th District. Angell seized the opportunity to contrast the funding pattern of his own campaign with the procedures he himself advocates. Out of the $20,992 received by the candidate and various committees supporting him before May 31, 1974, $12,500 (roughly 62.5 per cent) was contributed by his colleagues, present and past, at the law firm in which he is a partner. Another $2,000 (10 per cent) arises out of loans from the same group. Immediate family members have contributed $2,500 (12 1/2 per cent), another $2,000 (10 per cent) came from friends and the remainder is made up of contributions of less than $100. Angell said his proposal for congressional campaign finance reform centers around the availability to any major candidate of $50,000 in public funds on a matched funds basis. Thereafter, if the candidate could raise money privately, in contributions of less than $250, the privately raised funds could be matched up to another $25,000, by public funds. No candidate, he said, would be permitted to spend more than $125,000, irrespective of the source of his funds, except for a candidate running against an incumbent, who would be permitted another $50,000 in campaign expenditures. Angell explained that in his own case, he is a newcomer to politics "running against an entrenched candidate" (Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr.). The initial financial sources for his campaign have been from professional colleagues, friends and family. He said one professional associate has contributed almost 45 per cent

Orange Blossoms and Rice for Radiant June Brides

Mr. and Mrs. David C. Ennis of 86 Roosevelt Avenue, Kingston, announce the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Grace of the Bronx, to Michael Francis Schedler of the Bronx, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl K. Schedler of Seaford, N.Y.

The Rev. Thomas O'Hagan officiated at the ceremony at St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, Sunday, June 9. James Sweeney, organist, provided wedding selections.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected a gown fashioned by her mother. The gown was a halter-style, white Dengaline with an overdress of semi-sheer polyester trimmed with Venice lace. Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of fresh white flowers and dark green leaves. She carried a bouquet of orchids and stephanotis.

Barbara Schedler of Washington, D.C., sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and Susan DiAngelo of Poughkeepsie, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. They wore spring green jersey halter gowns with Eton jackets accented with white collars and cuff. They carried sprays of cymbidium orchids. Each wore a single cymbidium in her hair.

Robert Deverna of Seaford was best man. Ushers were Edward Smith of the Bronx; David Ennis Jr., brother of the bride, Voorheesville; and Donald Meyers of New York.

A reception was given at Lake Mohonk Mountain House in New Paltz.

The bride, a 1967 graduate of Kingston High School, was graduated from the College of Mt. St. Vincent in Riverdale, and is employed at Knolls, Inc., Riverdale.

The bridegroom, an alumnus of St. John's Preparatory School in

MRS. MICHAEL FRANCIS SCHEDLER (Elizabeth Grace Ennis) (Lakeside Studio)

Brooklyn, attended Manhattan College and Herbert H. Lehman College in the Bronx. He is employed at Neighborhood House, Riverdale.

Mr. and Mrs. Schedler will reside at 3803 Cannon Place, Bronx.

Karen Hope Beller and Donald Clyde Lackaye, both of Kingston, were united in marriage Saturday, June 1, Sherwood Davis, justice, Town of Ulster, officiated at the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald T. Lackaye, 6 Arnold Drive, Kingston.

MRS. DONALD CLYDE LACKAYE (Karen Hope Beller) (Lakeside Studio)

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beller of 113 Northfield Street, Kingston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a white dotted swiss gown with eyelid trim over taffeta. The gown was styled with a high round neckline, stand-up collar, and long sleeves. Deep ruffled layers accented the skirt and the bodice featured a ruffled yoke. The gown was made by the bride's mother. An arrangement of daisies and baby's breath served as her headpiece and she carried a nosegay of daisies, pompons and baby's breath.

Miss Sheila Beller of Kingston was maid of honor for her sister, Timothy D. Lackaye of Kingston was best man for his brother.

A garden reception was given at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Kingston High School, received her AS degree in Dental Hygiene from Hudson Valley Community College. Her fiancé, a 1971 alumnus of KHS, attended Ulster County Community College.

Mr. and Mrs. Lackaye are residing at Bayville Arms, Villa Plaza, Bayville, N.J.

Art, Crafts Classes Slated

A six-week series of art and craft classes for adults and children is being sponsored this summer by Marbletown Artists Association at four locations throughout Ulster County from July 8 to August 15, with registration from now to the end of June. A special personal registration for the adult program will be held in Barker's lobby, Simmons Plaza, New Paltz, Saturday, June 22, between 2 and 4 p.m.

MAA has been fortunate in obtaining the cooperation of local schools and churches who have made their vacant facilities available so that courses by professionals could be offered at moderate fees. In the New Paltz Middle School, morning workshops for adults include Landscape painting in oil, acrylic and watercolor. Contemporary Sculpture, Ceramics, Macrame, and a lecture demonstration course in Picture Framing. All classes will be small, so individual instruction for students at all levels is possible. Some are offered twice a week, some once a week, with the art workrooms open for independent work for students who would like to continue working in the afternoon.

Evening classes in Painting and Drawing, Sculpture and Pottery, and Printmaking, are being offered once a week in the High Falls church classrooms. These classes for adults will also be small so that the experienced may proceed at his own pace.

In the Kerhonkson School, an art enrichment program is planned for children, with team teaching providing a wide variety of art experience in different media. Children ages seven to 11 are scheduled for Tuesday mornings, and children ages 12 to 17 for Thursday mornings. Another program for children interested in a studio orientation to the visual arts is planned for Rosendale, with classes in drawing, painting, and printmaking scheduled four days a week.

For further information and registration forms, interested persons are requested to write Marbletown Artists Association, P.O. Box 38, Stone Ridge.

NANCY CORRADO

Area Betrothals Announced Recently

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond DePuy of Accord announce the engagement of their daughter, Dianne Ethel, to Charles Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fischer of Nanonoch.

Miss DePuy attends Rondout Valley High School and will be graduated in 1975. Her fiancé is employed by Indian Valley Sanitation.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Corrado of 27 Shufeldt Street, Kingston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, to Edmund B. Whitaker Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund B. Whitaker Sr. of 7 Myer Lane, Saugerties.

The bride-elect is a 1971 graduate of BOCES and Kingston High School and is employed as head cashier at Waldbaum's, Kingston.

Her fiancé, a 1968 alumnus of BOCES and Saugerties High School, is attending Ulster County Community College and is employed as an office clerk at Marquette Cement Company, Catskill.

A September 1 wedding is planned.

Annual Northeast Craft Fair in Rhinebeck Nearing

Much conversation has centered around the energy crisis this past winter, but there will be no lack of energy at the Northeast Craft Fair 9, according to Carol Sedstrom of New Paltz, area director. Sponsored by the American Crafts Council, Northeast Region, the fair will take place June 28 through June 30 at Dutchess County Fairgrounds in Rhinebeck.

The abounding energy to be found flows from one of our inexhaustible natural resources — the enthusiasm and excitement of people coming together to do something they believe in.

The energy and spirit of enthusiasm, dedication and fun has been the driving force behind the astonishing growth of the Northeast Craft Fair since the first Fair was held nine years ago in Stowe, Vt.

Group marketing is not a new idea, by any means, but nine years ago it was unusual for the contemporary craft market in the Northeast. At that time, craftsmen, strong and somewhat isolated individuals by their very nature, were marketing their crafts in any individual way they could.

In the spirit of self-help, the idea of inviting craftsmen to bring themselves and their unique works to a central place was formulated; Stowe, Vt. chosen as the site, wholesale buyers and visitors were also invited and everyone sat back to see what chemistry would take place. It was a success — certainly not the financial success for the craftsmen it was to become in future years — but a success more the less. And the "chemistry" of the event stimulated a sense of camaraderie among the craftsmen themselves that lasted through the winter and provided the energy needed to stage a second Fair.

And so it's gone through nine years, growing from some 60 craftsmen in Stowe, to more than 400 participating in Rhinebeck this year. The individual craftsmen's sales have increased steadily; some craftsmen now take all the orders they can fill for an entire year at this one event. Wholesale buyers from across the nation flock to the Fair, seeing it is their golden opportunity to fill their galleries and shops in one buying trip — no more travelling into the hills of Vermont or searching the farmlands of Maryland for the individual craftsman.

The visiting public has obviously been infected with the spirit of excitement, sensed the minute you step on the grounds, and came last year 25,000 strong to see and be part of this growing phenomena.

And all of this, the guidance and management of the Fair, the planning, all the myriad details necessary to bring together probably 50,000 people, were you to count heads, is accomplished each year by the sheer energy of craftsmen — determined to help themselves by helping others understand the special quality of an article made by hands that are guided by the creative inventiveness of the individual.

LASSIE RATHBONE models one of her hand-crafted leather outfits which will be on display at the Northeast Craft Fair, June 28 through June 30, at the Dutchess County Fairgrounds, Rhinebeck.

Mrs. Wilson Named Honorary Chairman of SPA Ball

Mrs. Malcolm Wilson, wife of New York State's Governor, will be the honorary chairman of the 10th annual Saratoga Performing Arts Center Ball, to be held Saturday, Aug. 3, at the Hall of Springs in Saratoga.

Mrs. Harry Marks of Albany is chairman of the event, with Mrs. Thomas F. Tracy of Albany serving as vice chairman.

Honorary vice chairmen are: Mrs. Ogden Phipps, New York City; Mrs. Charles Mather II, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. John Tweedy, Syosset, L.I.; and Mrs. Cortright Wetherill, Newton Square, Pa. Other chairmen and vice chairmen are respectively: Invitations—Mrs. Ray A. Elliot Jr. of Slingerlands and Mrs. Edward Eckert Jr. of Menands; sponsors—Mrs. Hollis Harrington of Delmar and Mrs. A. C. O'Hara of Loudonville; menu—Mrs. Alexander Aldrich of Greenfield Center and Mrs. Michael Whiteman of Albany.

In charge of music will be Mrs. Thomas Stephens of Elmore and Mrs. Clinton Braidwood of Schenectady, with Mrs. Morton Stern of Albany and Mrs. Walter Di Stefano of Loudonville handling decorations.

In charge of publicity are Mrs. Matthew F. Fitzgerald of Loudonville and Mrs. Evan L. Richards of Albany while reservations will be handled by Malcolm Magovern and Mrs. William Dake, both of Saratoga Springs.

Mrs. David F. Wilber III of Delmar will be in charge of the junior committee.

Persons wishing further information should contact Mrs. Matthew Fitzgerald, 14 Patton Place, Loudonville, N.Y. 12211 or Mrs. Evan Richards, 12 Crosswell Street, Albany, N.Y. 12206.

Information may also be obtained by contacting the Saratoga Performing Arts Center.

Nursing Scholarships Awarded Onteora Students

MARTHA WYLLIE

LORI NORDEN

Woodstock Public Health Committee has announced the presentation of two Nursing Scholarships in the amount of $250 each. The recipients are two senior students at Onteora Central High School who will be graduated June 23.

Miss Martha Wyllie of Ratterman Road, Woodstock, and Miss Lori Norden of Glasco Turnpike, Woodstock, have qualified for the Nursing Scholarships, having the required high scholastic average and contemplating nursing careers. Both have been accepted at accredited Schools of Nursing.

Martha Wyllie will attend Lasell Junior College at Newton, Mass. Miss Norden will attend Ulster County Community College.

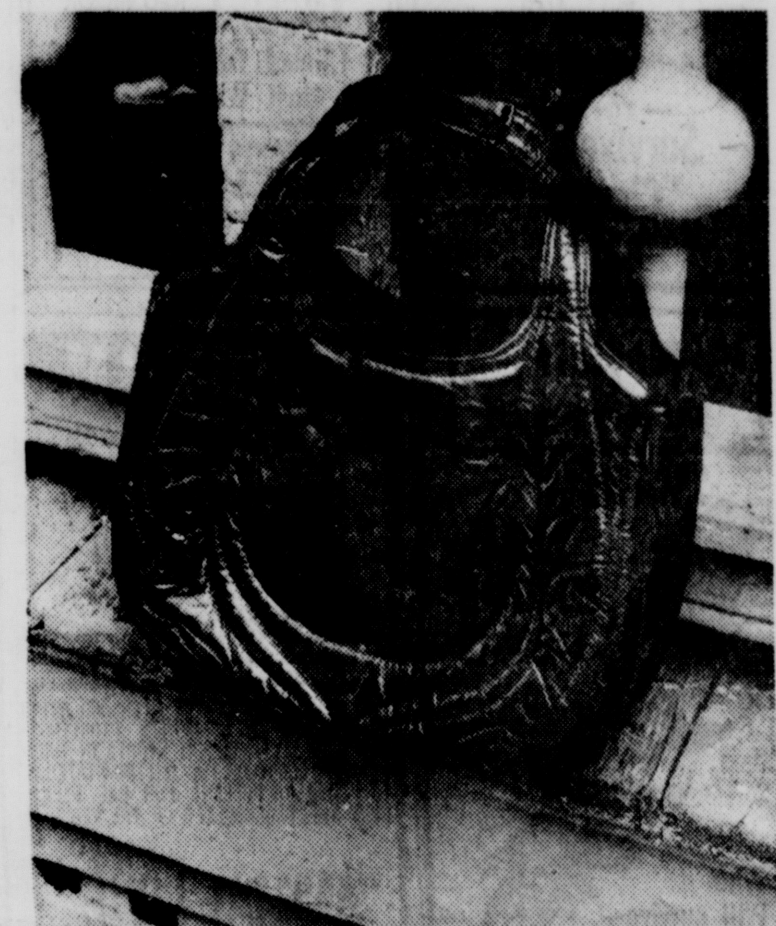

Woodstock Public Health Committee will present the scholarship awards at a luncheon to be held in their honor at Sawyerkill Restaurant Tuesday, June 25.

According to Mrs. Arthur Jones, president of Woodstock Public Health Committee, both girls have participated in many activities throughout their junior and senior high school years.

Martha Wyllie was a member of the Ski Team and active in Inter-Mural teams, and has received her Senior Life Saving Certificate. She has participated in the Cancer Drive and, through her interest in the Youth Center, has helped coordinate extra activities. Her hobbies are photography and baking. She lists her favorite pastime as reading.

Lori Norden has had a lifelong interest in the medical field. She has done volunteer work at Kingston Hospital and is currently studying Micro-Biology. One of her main interests is Science. Her hobbies include Experimental Theatre and Photography.

La Leche League meeting is planned for Tuesday, June 18 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Pat Metzger, 15 Birch Street, Town of Ulster. The topic will be "Nutrition and Weaning."

Legal Secretaries

Ulster County Legal Secretaries will hold their monthly dinner meeting Wednesday at Blue Ship Inn, Route 9W and Glasco Turnpike, south of Saugerties. Thomas Mayone, senior investigator in the District Attorney's Office, will be guest speaker.

Members and guests are invited. Reservations may be made with Candace Schwerdtfeger.

DAR Regent Installed Recently

Mrs. Warren A. Russell, Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was installed as regent at the June 6 luncheon meeting of the Hudson Valley Council Chapters, DAR. The event took place at Elm Rest House, East Durham. Mrs. Charles M. Eddy, New York State regent presided and served as installing officer.

Also elected to office were Mrs. Carroll W. Nieffer, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Thomas W. Reynolds Sr., chaplain; Mrs. Wildred Robinson, flag chairman.

Outlining her program for the coming three years, Mrs. Eddy termed it the Bicentennial Administration, and asked that the chairmen of this work in each chapter assume charge of all its related activities.

Theme of the national society is: "Whatsoever Thy Hand Findeth to Do, Do it."

Mrs. Emory A. Bogardus, vice chairman of national defense, District IX, announced a Flag Essay Contest and spoke about "The Flag of the USA as Seen Through the Eyes of a POW."

Others attending from Wiltwyck Chapter included Miss Inez Banks and the Mmes. Carleton Finch, Earl Smith, W. Pratt, G. F. Dingee, Adam H. Porter.

Wife Swapping . . . A New Name for an Old Game

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Quite some time ago my husband asked me how I felt about wife swapping. I told him I hoped he was kidding because the thought of it made me sick. The subject was dropped.

The next thing I knew, Pete started bringing home some of those crummy underground newspapers and reading ads from couples who wanted to swap. I told him if he decided to go in for anything so lowdown he had better find himself another wife.

I then went out of town for some dental surgery. I was gone for five days. When I returned Pete told me that "just for the fun of it" he had looked up a few couples who had advertised themselves as swingers, and he thought it might be fun if we tried it.

Abby, the idea is absolutely revolting to me. My moral upbringing wouldn't permit me to do anything so vile. We've been married for 33 years and I can't imagine what's gotten into him.

Pete says times have changed, and everybody swings. I can't believe that. Please tell me, Abby. Am I out of step or is he?

DEAR BEWILDERED: He is. Don't let him kid you. It's a new name for a very old game in which everybody loses. Ask your husband how he'd like to swing around to his doctor's for a checkup — from the neck both ways. He could be sick.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I go around with another young married couple who have been getting on our nerves lately because of something they do which we dislike.

They are always talking about how much money they

ship, you'll not have lost much.

DEAR ABBY: To that woman who scouted all the churches in town in search of a man and finally found one, you said, "Some people go to church to pray." — after which I thought you were going to add, "—and some people go to church to prey."

ARDYTH ULLMAN
DEAR ARDYTH: Had I thought of it, I might have.

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to Happy in Houston, "Some people go to church to pray — others go to pray they meet someone," set me to thinking about the other reasons people may have for going to church. Here is a list, which I think is complete:

1. Habit.
2. Training.
3. Fear of punishment from the Lord if they don't go.

4. To see who else is there.

5. To be seen.

6. To get spiritual inspiration.

7. To socialize.

Notice, Abby, I did not put down "to pray." One can pray anywhere.

PRAYS A LOT

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

New Calendar At Dutchess

POUGHKEEPSIE required a re-evaluation in 1975 of its effectiveness. At present, it is not expected to affect the scheduling of courses during the summer session.

Grant for Vassar College

POUGHKEEPSIE Vassar College has received a $112,000 grant from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, according to Barbara J. Wells, Vassar's acting president.

The grant will be used for partial support, over a two-year period, of a multidisciplinary program in science, technology, and society.
The program, directed by Professor of Economics Stephen W. Rousseas, offers students concentration in one of two divisions — "critical thought" or "urban studies and human ecology." Each is staffed by faculty members from a variety of departments.

Commission Session

The Kingston Bicentennial Commission will meet Tuesday, June 18, at the Holiday Inn in Kingston. Chairman Edward Levine announces that luncheon will begin at 11:30 a.m. and will be Dutch treat. Every effort will be made to adjourn promptly at 1:30 p.m.

The calendar will provide for a one-month winter term during the 1974-75 academic year between two four-month semesters. Designed by the faculty and staff at the college, the new calendar will end the fall semester before Christmas and provide a one month intercession, to begin Jan. 6 and terminate Jan. 31.

In coinciding with calendars of other area colleges it is hoped that greater compatibility in scheduling for students wishing to cross-register can be achieved. The January term is expected to be of benefit to students who may register for make-up courses, accelerate their programs, or elect special interest courses not normally available during the regular academic year.

In approving the new "4-1-4" calendar, college trustees have

Tuesday, June 18, 1974. Aries (March 21-April 19) You have a lot of good ideas today, but you're likely to do more talking about them than putting them to use. Taurus (April 20-May 20) Some confusion will result if you're not extra careful with the way you handle your business and financial affairs. Gemini (May 21-June 20) You'll be able to awaken enthusiasm and support from everyone today, but the one you really need. You'll have to light a special fire. Cancer (June 21-July 22) Limit your spending today to household items and basic necessities. Contracting for special services requires more looking around. Leo (July 23-Aug. 22) Some one in your threesome today will cause you some type of complication, if you let her take over and run things. Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A situation where you've put yourself out on the limb has a flaw in its foundation. Try to get to the root of the problem. Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A plan you have is feasible if it is worked out the way you envision it. However, another party will try to muddle things up. Scorpio (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A situation where you share a joint interest needs some looking into. All isn't as well as it appears on the surface. Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Leave yourself a little more room to negotiate today. You're apt to change your mind after you've made an agreement. Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your aims and ambitions will not be in line with those of a co-worker. This will have a diluting effect upon your efforts. Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're likely to treat a serious situation too lightly. Instead of solving the problem, you'll just postpone it.

Bill Signing Deadline . . . Wilson Approves Several

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—As the deadline for bill-signings and vetoes passed this weekend, Gov. Malcolm Wilson approved legislation placing new controls on abortions, redefining "obscenity" and expanding benefits for the elderly.

The governor vetoed bills that would have prohibited the planned development of Newburgh's Stewart Airport and would have tightened state regulation of lobbyists at the Capitol.

He also signed a repeal of a statute preventing the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey from subsidizing money-losing mass transit operations, and he approved bills opening taverns until a later hour and requiring a new medical test for brides and grooms.

Wilson's office was scheduled to announce the governor's action on remaining bills late today.

The new abortion statute provides that after the 12th week of pregnancy, abortions can be performed only in hospitals, and after the 20th week, only with two physicians in attendance.

The current law, which permits abortions during the first 24 weeks of pregnancy requires only that the surgery be performed by a physician with the woman's consent.

Advocates of the new law have said the restrictions will better protect the lives of the woman and child in the event of a live birth during an abortion. The revisions take effect Sept. 1.

The redefinition of obscenity conforms to a 1973 U.S. Supreme Court ruling against vague anti-obscenity laws.

It provides that a material or performance may be judged obscene if, among other things, "the average person applying contemporary community standards" would find that it appealed to prurient interest in sexual activity.

Some state lawmakers criticized the bill because, they said, the "average person" and his standards are impossible to define.

One of the bills improving benefits for the elderly permits persons 60 years of age or older to audit courses without pay tuition at State University and community colleges. Another reduces to two years the present five-year residency required in an assessment area before a person 65 or older can qualify for local property tax breaks.

Other measures approved by the governor empower the state Dormitory Authority to provide residential and related facilities for the elderly and require the state Office for the Aging to regulate and coordinate the program.

Wilson vetoed legislation that would have restricted the use of $32.9 million in state funds already allocated for lengthening runways, buying land and generally developing Stewart Airport.

The proposal would have authorized spending only for maintenance of existing facilities and payment for land already purchased.

The governor said in his veto message that he opposed development of Stewart into a giant passenger jetport, a plan fought for several years by some groups in the lower Hudson Valley. But he said the money was needed to expand the airport into a major cargo-handling facility.

The lobbyist bill would have required lobbyists and the corporations, associations or individuals employing them to file spending reports with the secretary of state's office twice yearly. It also would have defined "lobbyist" more broadly, thereby extending state registration requirements to more persons who try to influence legislation in Albany.

Wilson stated mostly technical objections to the bill in his veto message, but he also said the broader definition might be "an unconstitutional impairment of a citizen's right to petition the legislature."

The governor signed other bills that:

—Permit the use of Port Authority funds in rail mass-transit operations that are not self-supporting, an investment expressly prohibited previously.

—Set a 4 a.m. closing hour statewide, throughout the week, for establishments licensed to sell alcoholic beverages for on-premises consumption. Previously, the state except for New York City, had a 3 a.m. closing time. In New York City, taverns closed at 4 a.m., except on Sunday, when closing was 3 a.m. Under terms of the new law, localities can still set an earlier limit.

—Require applicants for marriage licenses to undergo a test for gonorrhea, as well as the already-mandatory syphilis test. This law is effective July 1, 1975.

—Guarantee purchasers of new mobile homes the right to a written warranty that the home is free from any substantial defects in material or workmanship. Another approved bill restricts the reasons for which mobile home park-owners can evict tenants and requires that tenants be offered a one-year lease.

—Give commercial banks the same mortgage lending powers as savings banks and raise the maximum dollar limits for mortgages on one- and two-family homes.

—Set a 30-day limit for delivery of mail-order merchandise unless a longer period is clearly noted by the seller.

—Make prison sentences mandatory for persons convicted of illegal possession of a loaded handgun with the intent to use it unlawfully. This bill also increases to 15 years the present seven-year maximum sentence for the crime.

—Require the operators of larger mining projects to post bonds to ensure that the mined land will be restored to its original state.

—Authorize the State University and the City University of New York to permit general public access to their libraries.

—Instruct the state boards of medicine and dentistry to draw up standards for the practice of acupuncture, the Chinese needle therapy. The standards would serve as a basis for establishing acupuncture as a recognized profession in the state.

Wilson vetoed legislation that would have:

—Made employers punishable under the law if they hired aliens whom they knew to be not legally entitled to employment in the United States.

—Increased to four years from three the period during which pupils may be given bilingual instruction in public schools.

Ruckelshaus, Cox Defend Kissinger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — William D. Ruckelshaus, the man who first revealed the existence of wiretaps on 13 of Henry A. Kissinger's aides, says he would exonerate the secretary of state of charges of any wrongdoing.

In Stanford, Calif., former Watergate Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox came to Kissinger's defense as well, calling news leaks and unsubstantiated accusations similar to practices in the McCarthy era.

Ruckelshaus, interviewed on television (CBS' "Face the Nation") Sunday, said, "I think his role, as best as I have been able to determine, is pretty much as he has described it."

Kissinger has said he participated in a program to prevent news leaks by supplying names of individuals with access to secret material. The secretary said he did not recommend that their telephones be tapped, and in a briefing in Jerusalem today stood by his threat to resign if he was not cleared of "attacks explained, 'to get an overall position of what happened — practices criticized when they were done by the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy. He mentioned news paper accounts which said the impeachment are 'being used in order to determine whether he's told Kissinger had ordered the Foreign Relations Committee. I think that revealing the proof would be 'improper.'"

"Are they now any less unfair than they were 20 years ago?" Cox asked. "Procedural cises, Cox said the way some of fairness does not depend on the Watergate stories have whose ox was gored."

Decision Near on Oil Prices

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Representatives of the world's leading oil exporting nations neared a decision on oil prices today amid reports they would continue a freeze on the posted prices for the next three months.

However, the representatives of the 13 nations in the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Companies were reported still discussing a proposed tax increase that could raise the price of gasoline in the United States 2 or 3 cents a gallon.

The ministers met for three hours Sunday night, and Iran's finance minister, Dr. Jamshid Amouzegar, said they were near a final agreement.

OPEC's secretary-general, Abderrahman Khene, said the ministers would meet again today.

The proposal was a compromise between a demand by Saudi Arabia, the world's biggest oil exporter, to roll back prices and the other 12 OPEC members, which favor some form of price hike.

Under OPEC rules any policy decision must have unanimous approval. Both Venezuela and Iran were outspoken in opposing the Saudi move for price cuts.

Even if the ministers make no change in the posted price, an artificial figure on which the exporting states calculate their taxes and royalties, conference sources said they may approve an increase in their tax rates.

Either increase would cost the consumers money.

OPEC froze posted prices in January and extended the freeze for three months in March. Before the freeze, prices quadrupled in a year's time to $11.65 a barrel, bringing the cost of Persian Gulf crude to the oil companies to about $7.

The three-day OPEC meeting, which began Saturday, heard an appeal for some form of price relief from Guyana's foreign minister Shridath Ramphal, speaking on behalf of nonaligned, underdeveloped nations. He told newsmen he had offered specific ideas on how the OPEC countries could help the developing nations with their balance of payments problems caused by high oil prices.

The members of OPEC, who produce 80 per cent of the world's oil exports, are Algeria, Abu Dhabi, Qatar, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Libya, Iraq, Iran, Venezuela, Gabon, Ecuador, Nigeria and Indonesia.

The French have barred shipping from a 60-mile danger zone around Mururoa. But there has been no word of an invasion by yachtsloads of anti-nuclear demonstrators that usually accompanies the tests.

The French set off five low-yield explosions in the 1973 series that ended last September. They were reported to have been small atomic bombs, but to be used as triggers for French hydrogen bomb experiments to be operational by 1976.

France Sets Off Nuclear Blast

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — France today set off the first explosion in its 1974 nuclear test series in the South Pacific, the Australian government reported.

The prime ministers of Australia and New Zealand protested.

The French government refused comment. It never announces the individual tests but said earlier this month this year's series would be the last conducted in the atmosphere.

The Australian government said a nuclear device was set off today over the Mururoa Atoll, the French test site about 1,000 miles southeast of Tahiti.

Prime Minister Gough Whitlam of Australia said the new tests were of deep concern to his government because they would result in radioactive fallout on Australian territory.

He said the French statement that these would be the last atmospheric tests was a step in the right direction, but that the French government has not given his government "any satisfactory commitment that further atmospheric tests will not be held."

New Zealand's Prime Minister Norman E. Kirk said he had told his ambassador in Paris to file a strong protest. At Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau of Canada criticized nuclear explosions in the atmosphere, saying in a speech: "There is no need for any country to develop a nuclear explosive competence." He apparently was referring also to India, which set off its first nuclear blast on May 18.

A senior Australian official said intelligence sources informed the government of the French blast and the report had been double-checked.

The Atomic Energy Commission in Washington had no immediate comment.

The tests have caused dis-sension within the three-week-old government of new French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, fired publisher Jean-

Jacques Servan-Schreiber from his cabinet for publicly criticizing the decision to go ahead with the tests.

The French have barred shipping from a 60-mile danger zone around Mururoa. But there has been no word of an invasion by yachtsloads of anti-nuclear demonstrators that usually accompanies the tests.

Senate Opening Debate on Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is opening debate on whether to cut income taxes for individuals and increase levies on corporations and the wealthy.

Although such legislation must originate in the House, the Senate has decided to jump into the floor debate on the issue by attaching an amendment to a House-passed bill that would increase the national debt limit temporarily to $490 billion.

This bill was chosen since the legislation must be sent to President Nixon before June 30, when the debt ceiling would drop from $475.7 billion to $400 billion.

The House, with a full schedule of bills for floor consideration this week, will give its principal attention to its Judiciary Committee's inquiry into possible impeachment of Nixon.

The Senate leadership expects the tax debate to continue all week.

The major tax-cut proposal, offered by Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., with many co-sponsors, would provide $6.6 billion of tax relief.

It would allow taxpayers an $825 personal exemption for each dependent, instead of the present $750, or, alternatively, a $190 tax credit. In addition, it would provide government payments of up to $400 a year for low-income families.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Finance Committee chairman, supports the amendment and predicts its passage. Administration officials have predicted a presidential veto.

Long says he doubts that a veto could be overridden, but predicts a White House congressional "severe confrontation" before the debt limit issue finally is settled.

Nixon has said any major tax cut could be highly inflationary. Its sponsors assert it is needed to prevent economic stagnation and to give consumers some more buying power.

er to offset the rapid recent price rises.

Various liberals also plan to offer tax-reform amendments, including one to repeal the 22 per cent oil and gas depletion allowance.

Long opposes such repeal and said Sunday its demise would result in higher prices for home heating oil and gasoline. He said on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" that repeal would discourage U.S. oil companies from providing more petroleum products.

But Long said he favors removing benefits from foreign oil, which he said was selling for $10 a barrel.

Some oil state senators have indicated they may filibuster against removal of the depletion allowance. They say this tax benefit is essential if the United States is to make any progress toward energy self-sufficiency.

er to offset the rapid recent price rises.

Various liberals also plan to offer tax-reform amendments, including one to repeal the 22 per cent oil and gas depletion allowance.

Long opposes such repeal and said Sunday its demise would result in higher prices for home heating oil and gasoline. He said on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press" that repeal would discourage U.S. oil companies from providing more petroleum products.

But Long said he favors removing benefits from foreign oil, which he said was selling for $10 a barrel.

Some oil state senators have indicated they may filibuster against removal of the depletion allowance. They say this tax benefit is essential if the United States is to make any progress toward energy self-sufficiency.

Temporary Pass and a Bid for Freedom

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — A convicted killer who left prison last month on a four-hour social pass was shot and captured after police say he seized three vehicles and a total of five persons Sunday.

Carl C. Bowles, 33, was shot in the stomach by a policeman as he stood knee-deep in the Spokane River near his northern Idaho town. He was in critical condition today after undergoing 5½ hours of surgery.

Bowles had been the subject of a two-state search since he left the Oregon State Penitentiary May 17 under a temporary leave program for inmates and visited a woman at a motel in Salem, Ore.

Harry Button, chief criminal investigator for the Kootenai County sheriff's office, said Bowles was charged Sunday with escape and faced other possible charges.

Button said Bowles seized a mobile home, a car and a motorcycle Sunday and forced five persons to accompany him in his bid for freedom.

All were released unharmed, although an elderly couple were "slapped around a bit," another deputy said.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Finance Committee chairman, supports the amendment and predicts its passage. Administration officials have predicted a presidential veto.

Long says he doubts that a veto could be overridden, but predicts a White House congressional "severe confrontation" before the debt limit issue finally is settled.

Nixon has said any major tax cut could be highly inflationary. Its sponsors assert it is needed to prevent economic stagnation and to give consumers some more buying power.

Westminster Hall Damaged

LONDON (UPI) — A bomb on the historic Palace of Westminster when the bomb went off. They were alerted by a warning telephoned six minutes earlier to the Press Association, a British news agency.

The man, speaking with an Irish accent, used a code word recognized by Scotland Yard as a demonstration that his warning was genuine. This pattern had been followed in most of 63 earlier bomb attacks, most blamed on the IRA.

Within 90 minutes of the blast, firemen had controlled the fire in Westminster Hall. A police official said the hall was "badly damaged."
